Weigh Vote Choice

Ohio GOP Faces Hour Of Decision

By ART PARKS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ohio delegates to the Republican National Convention come to their hour of decision today on their course of action after abandoning Gov. James A. Rhodes as their favorite son for the party's presidential nomination.

The 58-member group was scheduled to caucus at 8 a.m. (PDT). The first business was formal action to give up a first-ballot complimentary vote for Rhodes. The next — and more important—business was to decide where its votes will go.

Rhodes, last Thursday, just before leaving Columbus, gave the delegation permission to forego a first-ballot vote for him.

Since that day, partisans of Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, and delegates who don't appear too enthusiastic about either, have been making their forecasts about how the Ohio delegation will break up.

Goldwater supporters range widely in their claims.

Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, says Goldwater had a hard core of at least 20 votes in the Buckeye delegation. That coincides with the continuing delegation poll by The Associated Press.

Ashbrook, one of the leaders of the Ohio Goldwater campaign, expects his actual vote will go much higher. A similar view is held by former Sen. John W. Bricker, chairman of the Ohio delegation, who forecasts a Goldwater vote of "40 to 50" on the first ballot.

The Scranton vote prospects in the Ohio delegation were getting hazier by the moment as the hour for the opening convention gavel approached.

A week ago, he apparently had at least 10 Ohio votes locked up. By Saturday night, that modest total had dwindled to eight.

By Sunday night, it appeared that some of the votes originally tallied for Scranton in the Associated Press poll were giving serious consideration to sticking with the favorite-son candidacy of Rhodes.

Many of the Ohio delegates, before getting down to work, had a full day of sightseeing Sunday. Except for employes, the delegation headquarters in the Sir Francis Drake Hotel was practically deserted all day.

Among Sunday's arrivals was the 26-man Columbus Republican Glee Club, which has appeared at all but two GOP conventions since 1872. . .

Seek Rep. Moore's Aid

Scranton's Forces Woo West Virginia Delegation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. William Scranton had faint hopes today of forestalling West Virginia first - ballot votes for Sen. Barry Goldwater by having Rep. Arch A. Moore nominated as a favorite son.

There was no indication, however, that the move would succeed.

Moore said he had accepted an invitation to meet with the Pennsylvania governor to discuss the proposal.

"I have made no commitment, Moore said, "I just want to see what he has to say."

Moore, West Virginia's only Republican congressman, is one of seven members in the 14-member delegation who have not declared themselves publicly for any candidate. Four openly support Goldwater and three others are for Scranton.

Former Sen. Chapman Revercomb, delegation chairman who also is uncommitted, said he thinks Goldwater will have support of a majority of the delegation before the balloting begins Wednesday.

The delegation held its first caucus Sunday night in advance of today's formal opening of the convention.

No vote on candidates was taken at the closed - door session. The next such meeting will be at 1 p.m. Tuesday and Revercomb said he has invited both Scranton and Goldwater to appear before the delegates.

Representatives of both major contenders appeared before the delegates Sunday night. Goldwater was represented by his eldest daughter, Mrs. Thomas Ross, and Scranton by Pennsylvania Secretary of State George Bloom.

There was no discussion of the favorite son proposal at the caucus. If a majority of the dele-

Merger Due N. & W. And Nickle Plate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission has approved the consolidation of the Norfolk & Western, Nickel Plate, and Wabash railroads into a 7,450-mile system.

The ICC, in announcing the decision today, said the Pennsylvania Railroad must get rid of all of its financial interests in the N & W and the Wabash, because the Pennsylvania "is in a position to extend its control over the proposed system.

The transaction involves the merger of the Nickel Plate—formally known as the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad—into the Norfolk & Western, and the subsequent lease of the Wabash.

The result would be a rail network extending from the port of Hampton Roads, Va., to the Great Lakes and Midwest.

The decision was adopted June 24 by a 10-1 vote. The ICC said the consolidation may not take place unless the Pennsylvania notifies the commission by Sept. 16—30 days after the Convention Opens

Senator Rejects Debate Proposal

By JACK BELL

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The gates swing open today on the 28th Republican convention, fenced in tightly by hard-driving supporters bent on giving Sen. Barry Goldwater a first-ballot presidential nomination.

Thundering over the opposition Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton was attempting to provide, Goldwater's outriders already had put the Arizona senator's conservative brand on the platform the convention will be asked to adopt Tuesday. And Goldwater promptly rejected a challenge by Scranton for a debate before the convention.

Goldwater moved into the convention's opening day with 740 first-ballot votes credited to him in an Associated Press poll —85 more than the 655 needed for nomination if they remain in his column. This total includes 303 delegates who favor him but are not officially bound. The survey credited Scranton with 169 votes, none of them bound to him.

Scranton, out-gunned at every turn, tried to rally his tattered forces for a last-ditch effort Tuesday to revive in a convention floor fight some of the proposals shot down within the Goldwater-dominated platform committee.

At the cavernous Cow Palace, National Chairman William E. Miller, a leading candidate for the vice presidential nomination, was scheduled to bang the gavel at noon. Opening session greetings were to follow, along with the election of Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon as temporary chairman.

Probing for an opening in the encircling Goldwater forces, Scranton fired off a letter Sunday night challenging the Arizona senator to an unprecedented debate before the convention. Goldwater rejected this proposal as ridiculous and returned the letter unanswered.

Scranton said the issue is whether the convention will choose "the candidate overwhelmingly favored by the Republican voters, or will it choose you?" The Pennsylvania governor has cited polls which show him widely preferred over Goldwater as the nominee.

Scranton said "Goldwaterism has come to stand for a whole crazy-quilt of absurd and dangerous positions that would be soundly repudiated by the American people in November."

Among these, he said, was "refusal to stand for law and order in maintaining racial peace" and being afraid to forthrightly condemn right wing extremists."

Taunting Goldwater, he said the Arizona senator "should not fear a convention you claim to control, and I would hope we

U.N. Spots Troops

Cyprus Landings Cause Further Fear Of Fighting

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—The possibility of another explosion in the simmering Cyprus dispute faced the U.N. peacekeeping force today after it reported the landing of reinforcements to both Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Archbishop Makarios, Greek Cypriot president of Cyprus, convened an emergency session of his Cabinet Sunday to consider what a government source called "the clandestine landing of Turkish troops on Cyprus."

The source said the government expects the U.N. Security Council and the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference, now meeting in London, to help the Greek Cypriots meet the "Turkish aggression."

He indicated urgent appeals would be sent to both bodies, but made no mention of the even larger landings of Greeks reported by the U.N. command.

Over the past five weeks, a U.N. spokesman said Saturday, U.N. patrols have observed some 500 Turkish military personnel put ashore in the Mansoura area of northwest Cyprus, the only coastline controlled by Turkish Cypriots.

The spokesman also said some 3,000 men and artillery pieces had landed from Greece in support of the Greek Cypriots.

The Turkish Foreign Ministry issued a statement in Ankara saying that the only Turkish soldiers sent to the island were routine replacements for the regular 650-man Turkish Cyprus garrison.

Cypriot Interior Minister Polycarpos Georgadjis said 2,800 men had arrived at the port of Limassol from Greece.

Loss Of $7,000 Seen In Pottery Shed Blaze

Loss has been estimated at $7,000 to $8,000 in a fire which destroyed a two-story wooden storage shed Saturday night at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co. in Chester.

The blaze raged for an hour in the structure at 8th St. and Neptune Ave. Firemen said it destroyed large cartons which the firm uses in shipping. Officials of the pottery said the sections of the building left standing will be razed soon.

Both trucks of the volunteer fire department, along with police, responded to the alarm at 8:50.

Viet Forces Lift Siege In Mekong Delta

No Americans Die As Reds Slay 39 In Ambush Near Fort

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Vietnamese government forces drove off a Communist siege over the weekend in the most violent action in the Mekong Delta in several weeks. Both sides suffered heavy casualties.

No American advisers were involved in the clash over the mud-walled fort at Vinh Cheo, 100 miles south of Saigon.

Using the 56 militiamen garrisoning the fort as bait, the Communist guerrillas lured four Civil Guard companies to the outpost and opened fire from ambush.

The badly mauled Civil Guard forces were withdrawn Saturday night. Four regular Vietnamese battalions lifted the siege Sunday.

The Communist forces killed 39 and wounded 129 in the ambush, the battle and the looting of a nearby village. One Vietnamese officer estimated Communist loses at 300, but American advisors said they doubted more than 100 were killed or wounded.

FBI Probes Gun Death Of Negro Figure

COLBERT, Ga. (AP)—FBI and Georgia state agents today pushed an intensive investigation into the mysterious shotgun slaying of a Washington Negro educator.

J. J. Casper, assistant director of the FBI, would say only that the investigation is continuing. "I'm in no position to make any comment," he said.

State investigators fanned out Sunday along the route taken through northeast Georgia by Lemuel Penn, 49, director of Washington's vocational high schools, when he was shot at the wheel of his car early Saturday by a night-riding gunman.

Residents along the rural route said agents of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation moved from house to house in their questioning Sunday. Public Safety Director Lowell Conner said there were no arrests and that he had nothing to report.

Penn, a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve, was killed by a shotgun blast fired from a car which passed his automobile from the rear about 10 miles northeast of Colbert. Two other Negro officers riding with Penn escaped injury. The three men had completed a refresher course at Ft. Benning.

The only investigator talking was Madison County Sheriff Dewey Seagraves, who said he was getting nowhere.

"They are not either," Seagraves said, referring to the FBI.

Raps 'Goldwaterism'

Scranton Slates Platform Attack

By EDMOND LEBRETON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton's forces are making the proposed Republican platform the battleground in their do-or-die struggle to deny Sen. Barry Goldwater the presidential nomination.

But Goldwater, whose strength on the platform committee was displayed in the crushing of key proposals sought by Scranton, said he isn't afraid of the result of any floor fight the Pennsylvanian may be able to organize Tuesday.

That is the day for considering the party statement. Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Scranton's manager, promised to force votes on major amendments in a struggle for "the soul of the Republican party."

Such a fight would be a major element in Scranton's drive to change enough delegates' minds to block Goldwater's indicated first-ballot nomination Wednesday.

The Pennsylvania governor sounded the battle cry in a letter accusing Goldwater of allowing "the radical extremism to use you" and saying "Goldwaterism has come to stand for nuclear irresponsibility . . . being afraid to forthrightly condemn rightwing extremists . . . refusing to stand for law and order in maintaining racial peace."

From across the party line came indications that Democrats were girding for the fray on the assumption that Goldwater and the platform would win GOP approval.

Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey in Washington called the Republican platform draft a "fantasy, conceived in a shadowland of fear and hate" and containing "every radical right cliche."

But the platform committee chairman, Melvin R. Laird, said the group was not dictated to by Goldwater or anyone else. The Wisconsin congressman predicted its product will be "supported by the overwhelming majority of delegates Tuesday night."

The document being sent to the rank and file delegates—while Scranton forces map their parliamentary strategy to fight it — reflects Goldwater's expressed views on point after point and omits the major position statements for which Scranton pleaded in person and through his representatives on the drafting group.

Scranton wanted a repudiation of political extremism, with a specific disavowal of the John Birch Society and a plank opposing any shift from the president to any military commander of authority over use of any nuclear weapons.

These didn't get into the draft platform at all, and instead of declaring the new Civil Rights Act constitutional, as Scranton

French Leader Dies

Communist World Pays Tribute To Dead Thorez

Thorez, head of the French party for 34 years, died Saturday aboard a Soviet ship crossing the Black Sea to Yalta, where he was to be treated for a chronic heart condition.

The body was landed at Varna, Bulgaria, where Communist officials said after a post mortem that Thorez had died of a heart attack.

Thorez' widow, Jeanette Vermeersch, also a party leader, was with him when he died. A Soviet plane Sunday brought her and the body to Paris, where they were met by a large crowd and three of Thorez' sons.

The body was taken to lie in state today and Tuesday in the City Hall of Ivry-sur-Seine, a workers' suburb with a Communist city government. Thorez represented the district in the National Assembly. The body will be moved Wednesday to party headquarters in the center of Paris, and the funeral will be Thursday.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in a cable to Mrs. Thorez, saluted her husband as "an outstanding figure of the French and international Communist and workers' movement, a true friend of the Soviet Union, our brother-in-arms in the great struggle for the liberation of mankind."

A coal miner at 12, Thorez at 20 was a founder of the French Communist party. He became regional party director in 1923 and national secretary-general in 1930.

Girl Driver Injured When Auto Overturns

A city girl was hospitalized with injuries suffered in a one-car crash about 9 a. m. today on Pancake Hill on Route 170.

Miss Charlene Bailey, 1625 Holliday St., suffered multiple contusions of the head and chest and a possible concussion when her car overturned.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon was investigating the mishap. She was admitted to City Hospital, where she was taken by an East Palestine ambulance.

COLBERT, Ga. (AP)—FBI and Georgia state agents today pushed an intensive investigation into the mysterious shotgun slaying of a Washington Negro educator.

J. J. Casper, assistant director of the FBI, would say only that the investigation is continuing. "I'm in no position to make any comment," he said.

State investigators fanned out Sunday along the route taken through northeast Georgia by Lemuel Penn, 49, director of Washington's vocational high schools, when he was shot at the wheel of his car early Saturday by a night-riding gunman.

Residents along the rural route said agents of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation moved from house to house in their questioning Sunday. Public Safety Director Lowell Conner said there were no arrests and that he had nothing to report.

Penn, a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve, was killed by a shotgun blast fired from a car which passed his automobile from the rear about 10 miles northeast of Colbert. Two other Negro officers riding with Penn escaped injury. The three men had completed a refresher course at Ft. Benning.

The only investigator talking was Madison County Sheriff Dewey Seagraves, who said he was getting nowhere.

"They are not either," Seagraves said, referring to the FBI.

Communist World Pays Tribute To Dead Thorez

Thorez, head of the French party for 34 years, died Saturday aboard a Soviet ship crossing the Black Sea to Yalta, where he was to be treated for a chronic heart condition.

The body was landed at Varna, Bulgaria, where Communist officials said after a post mortem that Thorez had died of a heart attack.

Thorez' widow, Jeanette Vermeersch, also a party leader, was with him when he died. A Soviet plane Sunday brought her and the body to Paris, where they were met by a large crowd and three of Thorez' sons.

The body was taken to lie in state today and Tuesday in the City Hall of Ivry-sur-Seine, a workers' suburb with a Communist city government. Thorez represented the district in the National Assembly. The body will be moved Wednesday to party headquarters in the center of Paris, and the funeral will be Thursday.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in a cable to Mrs. Thorez, saluted her husband as "an outstanding figure of the French and international Communist and workers' movement, a true friend of the Soviet Union, our brother-in-arms in the great struggle for the liberation of mankind."

A coal miner at 12, Thorez at 20 was a founder of the French Communist party. He became regional party director in 1923 and national secretary-general in 1930.

Girl Driver Injured When Auto Overturns

A city girl was hospitalized with injuries suffered in a one-car crash about 9 a. m. today on Pancake Hill on Route 170.

Miss Charlene Bailey, 1625 Holliday St., suffered multiple contusions of the head and chest and a possible concussion when her car overturned.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon was investigating the mishap. She was admitted to City Hospital, where she was taken by an East Palestine ambulance.

Cadillac

YOU MAY BE LOSING MONEY BY PAYING LESS

There are many cars that cost almost as much as a Cadillac. But it is a matter of fact that the decision to buy one of them could be a false economy.

Consider the major items included in the basic price of a Cadillac that are usually extra on other cars: automatic transmission, high-performance engine, power steering, power brakes, automatic cornering lights, and power windows on most models.

Then think of what a new Cadillac can save you on operation and maintenance. Cadillac is actually the rival of much smaller, lighter cars in gasoline efficiency—and it is so soundly built that it has reduced upkeep expense to the practical minimum.

You're ahead again—every mile you drive.

Finally, reflect on Cadillac's historically high trade-in value. No car at or near its price preserves so much of its owner's original investment through the years.

So add it all up. You'll see what most owners mean when they say you don't spend more for a Cadillac. You just invest a little more—and get a lot more back.

If a Cadillac has long been in your plans, visit your dealer and get all the dollars-and-cents facts.

Cadillac

YOU MAY BE LOSING MONEY BY PAYING LESS

There are many cars that cost almost as much as a Cadillac. But it is a matter of fact that the decision to buy one of them could be a false economy.

Consider the major items included in the basic price of a Cadillac that are usually extra on other cars: automatic transmission, high-performance engine, power steering, power brakes, automatic cornering lights, and power windows on most models.

Then think of what a new Cadillac can save you on operation and maintenance. Cadillac is actually the rival of much smaller, lighter cars in gasoline efficiency—and it is so soundly built that it has reduced upkeep expense to the practical minimum.

You're ahead again—every mile you drive.

Finally, reflect on Cadillac's historically high trade-in value. No car at or near its price preserves so much of its owner's original investment through the years.

So add it all up. You'll see what most owners mean when they say you don't spend more for a Cadillac. You just invest a little more—and get a lot more back.

If a Cadillac has long been in your plans, visit your dealer and get all the dollars-and-cents facts.

Setback In The Congo?

"Setback for U.S. in Congo," read a magazine headline on a story from Leopoldville a few days before Moise Tshombe became premier of the Congo Republic.

"Here in Leopoldville," said the story, "the Congo's future looks downright dismal, with trouble ahead for all concerned, the United States included."

For once it might be a good idea to wonder about a setback for the United States, with a view to wondering whether every failure to perform a miracle is really a setback.

When the Congo Republic came into existence prematurely four years ago, every witness of the birth predicted dire disaster. Everything was against the new nation. It lacked people trained to administer a government. It had no communications, no unity, no common language, no sense of national achievement.

IT WOULD TAKE 50 years at least to get the chaos under control.

Like the ants that go to picnics, Communists showed up to take quick advantage of unrest and confusion.

Then, like the flies that go with the ants, anti-Communists showed up with tactics of repression as bad as anything the Communists were trying to do. The Belgians were making a last-ditch stand in Katanga Province.

On Aug. 9, 1960, the United Nations Security Council ordered Belguim to withdraw its troops and sent a force to guard against civil war. The threat of civil war had been raised most ominously by one Moise Tshombe, rebellious premier of Katanga Province. On Jan. 15, 1963, Tshombe promised to be good and announced the end of Katanga's recession.

This is the same man who now has shown up to become premier of the Congo Republic, taking the place of Cyrile Adoula, who resigned three hours after the last of the U.N. troops withdrew on June 30.

ADOULA had been backed by the United States; that is true. Tshombe has pledged himself to support the central government and made his reputation as an anti-Communist. That is true, too. Setback for the United States?

Americans go out of their way to look for setbacks so they can feel sorry for themselves and mad at their government.

After all, the Congo Republic has only four years on its history, with 50 years to go before it has even a good start.

The United States hadn't had its first civil war in that short a time.

Let There Be Unity

Unity is relative. In politics it is more relative than in most places. One thinks back over the hatchet-flinging quarrels of recent Democratic conventions — quarrels that left open wounds.

Then one thinks of the Democrats' success in limping to victory despite the quarrels—four times with Franklin D. Roosevelt, once with Harry Truman, once with John F. Kennedy.

Did the Democratic party have unity, in the highest sense? By no means.

Did differing factions of Democrats ever love one another and practice sweet forgiveness. Not the "unreconstructed rebels," as Franklin D. Roosevelt liked to call them. Not the Americans for Democratic Action. Nor the John J. Raskobs, Al Smiths and Henry Wallaces. Nor more recently the Strom Thurmonds and Gov. Wallaces. What, then, held the Democrats together?

It was unity—the kind of unity that cements together a political party when it smells victory. Can bickering Republicans do what bickering Democrats have done so many times in recent years?

That will be the next job for the Goldwater people who have done such a remarkable job of sewing up the Republican presidential nomination—to convince the delegates their man can win the election, too.

The first battle is over. The Republican convention will be the first strategy session for the next one—the big one in November.

A Man Can Change His Mind

When the Democratic National Convention was over in 1960, the third most talked about man in the party, after John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, was LeRoy Collins, governor of Florida, who had presided as convention chairman.

It was no surprise when the National Association of Broadcasters chose him to be its president later in 1960. He had distinguished himself at the Democratic convention with a charming television personality. His wit and level-headed management of the delegates made him a memorable and compelling personality.

He demonstrated his level-headedness again when he was badgered and heckled by Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina after being nominated by President Johnson to be director of the Community Relations Service. This is the agency to work with state and local governments in carrying out the provisions of the new Civil Rights Act.

Sen. Thurmond thinks of himself as a professional rear-guard fighter for the vanquished Confederacy. He had been accusing his fellow Southerner of lack of consistency in his views on civil rights.

The former governor of Florida heard him out patiently. He then admitted there were inconsistencies in his record. "But we all grow and change and have to meet new responsibilities," he said. "I will not contend that I have not changed some of my positions as a result of better understanding."

Sen. Thurmond and his irreconcilable associates of the Deep South do not speak for all Southerners—only those not interested in better understanding.

Time For An Old Refrain

It is noteworthy that Soviet Premier Khrushchev has spent 10 weeks of this year away from his official desk in Moscow—noteworthy because at this point in the United States a clamor would start to make the head man stay home.

In the United States, labor unions and the political opposition elsewhere kept tabs on President Eisenhower's golf games, counting them as time frittered away.

President Kennedy was kept on the defensive for even such minor absences as weekends spent at his country place.

President Roosevelt was chided for nipping up and down the Potomac on the presidential yacht and making "inspection" tours during political campaigns.

President Truman, a homebody, was criticized for going down to Key West and relaxing in a sport shirt.

We don't know how the Russians feel about the gadding about of their head man, or if they know he has been on the move. It might give them a sense of security. When a Russian regime achieves enough stability to let the premier leave Moscow for prolonged periods, things are going smoothly.

If Russians aren't inclined to beef about it, perhaps Americans can take up the theme they have worn threadbare and use it against the Soviet Union's leading salesman:

Stay on the job in Moscow, Nikita Khrushchev. Quit making yourself so darned agreeable to the outlying precincts. The government needs you at your desk every waking hour. Little Brother is watching you.

By Truman Twill

No Love Feast

One thing above all should be kept in mind while the two political parties are organizing for their quadrennial battle.

What the boys say about each other while maneuvering for power in the regrouping of forces for the national campaign is subject to instant forgetfulness.

They are trying to sway opinion hither and yon to suit their conflicting ambitions. Once their personal purposes have been brought into a common front for the national campaign, they will stand shoulder to shoulder and cheek to jowl.

For an up-to-date reminder of the way it works, refer to the hard words flying around when the late John F. Kennedy was nailing down the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960. Refer particularly to the slam-bang primary campaigning of the then young senator from Massachusetts and the dynamic senator from Minnesota, Hubert Humphrey.

Recall the knife-flashing episode at the Democratic National Convention in San Francisco which determined that Lyndon B. Johnson would be the vice presidential candidate and that Adlai E. Stevenson would be appeased by sending him to the United Nations.

WHEN IT WAS over, these bitter rivals and a gaggle of supposedly irreconcilable southern-fried senators and representatives from the chitlings belt were all snuggled up together in one big bed again — one happy, fun-loving crowd.

It nearly always turns out that way.

The boys almost never take their ball and run home in a snit, for one simple and powerful reason. If they want to play ball at all they have to play in the only game there is. Once in a great while they will sulk like Achilles, or go grumping into oblivion like Teddy Roosevelt and his Bull Moosers. But mostly they end up in smoke-filled room with their arms around each other singing, "Hail, hail, the gang's all here."

This is not easy to remember when fur is flying and blood is spattering on the wall - to - wall carpeting of convention hotels.

It is not easy to remember while the big cats are baring their fangs and claws and going yowrrr. But it's the way the game is played.

PARTISAN POLITICS is not brotherly love. It is not a fraternal order, a religious society, or a love feast. It is a loose coalition of ambitious human beings in quest of a mandate from the rank and file to run the show until the curtain goes down.

It is like a ball club organized for the sole purpose of winning ball games. Do the players love one another? Don't be foolish. They're held together by nothing but a common desire to finish first.

USIA To Press Democracies' Strongpoints

While Victor Riesel is gathering material for future columns in Africa and Eastern Europe, leaders in American industrial, labor, professional and political life are pinch-hitting for him.

By CARL ROWAN
Director U.S.I.A.

Anyone seeking to understand the challenges facing the United States Information Agency today must first understand the significance of two recent major developments on the international scene.

The first development is the easing of tensions between the Soviet bloc and the United States; the second is the deep rift between the Soviet Union and Communist China.

On shallow observation one might conclude that both these developments represent an advantage to the United States, and a reduction in the pressure on those charged with protecting the United States' interests in the ideological conflict that has consumed the world since World War II.

The fact is that both these developments greatly increase the pressures and demands on USIA and make its successes and failures all the more vital when viewed in terms of our national interest.

CONSIDER the easing of tension, occasionally referred to by the press as a "detente." What does this mean? Simply that in the wake of the Cuban missile crisis, the Soviet bloc backed away from the brink of thermonuclear war to a "peaceful coexistence" line.

Anyone who assumes that this signaled any slackening of the Communists' efforts to win the world to their ideology need only refer to the many comments on the subject by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

For example, on April 23 Tass quoted Khrushchev as saying in an interview with a correspondent from Italy's Il Giorno: "We have always advocated. . . . that war should be excluded forever from the life of human society. . . But at the same time we Communists have never agreed, and never will agree, to the idea of peaceful co-existence in ideologies. In this there can be no compromise."

A look at recent Soviet propaganda efforts shows that Khrushchev meant what he said. The Soviets recently reduced sharply their broadcasting in Europe in order to increase programming beamed at Latin America, Africa and South and Southeast Asia—areas of direct confrontation with the Western democracies and also with the Chinese Communists.

THIS YEAR, the U.S.S.R. began broadcasting to Africa in two new languages, Zulu and Lingala. It increased Spanish Broadcasts to Latin America 17 per cent.

The Soviets, Communist Chinese and Castro Cubans are now beaming 420 hours of programming a week at our neighbors to the South, and the Soviets are showing intensified interest in Nepal and India.

Nepalese broadcasts were doubled in May. Hindi broadcasts to India were increased and broadcasts were begun in Malayalam. The latter is spoken in South India, chiefly Kerala State, where an election is coming up soon.

Communists boast that they have a good chance of winning that election and the Soviets broadcasting pattern to try to increase chances of victory.

These recent program changes raise the Soviet total of international broadcasts to 1,354 hours a week, considerably more than Red China, with some 900 hours weekly, the Voice of America, with 800 hours, and BBC, with 630.

THE COMMUNIST ideological offensive is promoted with zeal in every other area of communications, for one reason because the Russians and Chinese are struggling to outdo each other. Especially in the developing countries, each is fighting to dominate the press, youth groups, labor unions, educational systems and every other organ or institution that influences what men believe.

The free world cannot afford to have either the Russians or the Chinese succeed—thus USIA is today waging the most vigorous campaign in its history.

We intend, to the extent that our resources permit, to ensure that no man anywhere chooses tyranny because he has not heard the message of freedom.

Through our broadcasts, motion pictures, wireless file, books and pamphlets, and other means we seek to alert the world to the fact that the Communist giants come bearing slavery in the name of liberation, totalitarianism under the label of democracy and human bondage in the name of freedom.

FOR THE MOST PART our approach is positive. We seek most of all to have the world understand what the United States is and what it hopes to be. I spelled that out this way recently before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"America is capitalism with a conscience—a country in which laborers own homes, automobiles, new refrigerators, but more important, where ordinary men have an extraordinary voice in the affairs of their government.

"America is a rocket pinpointed on the moon and Polaris submarines cruising as sentinels of the deep—military might never surpassed in history, but might harassed by a sense of responsibility for man's destiny and by a national desire for peace within freedom.

"And this nation is social ferment—a society caught up in concern for its aged and its ill, full of compassion for its improverished. . . a people struggling as no society ever struggled to achieve a unity that transcends the incidental boundaries of religion, race, national origin.

"America is leadership—a nation whose destiny it has become to man the far-flung ramparts of freedom, marching with the fearful and the weak, the hungry and the harassed, toward the goal of a peaceful world community of free and independent states.

". . . brevity forbids my saying all that this nation is. But I think that I have said enough to justify my fundamental belief that all we need wish the world to know about us is the truth.

"Through face-to-face contracts, through television films and radio, and through the printed word, we shall spread the truth, and I am confident that the truth will keep us free."

In trying to extend these truths to the hearts and minds of people everywhere, we in USIA have developed a system of priorities. These are the five themes on which all our media concentrate.

THEY ARE themes that reflect official policy, and are periodically examined and revised wherever required. They are:

1. The United States has no more urgent task than the pursuit of peace.

2. The United States, matured and tested under the responsibilities of free world leadership, will maintain its strength in all fields to protect its own freedom and to aid in the defense of other free nations against threats to their independence and institutions. The United States can and will keep its commitments to its allies and to other countries.

3. The United States believes in a peaceful world community of free and independent states, free to choose their own future, free to build and change their own systems so long as they do not threaten the freedom of others. We believe in the dignity of the individual, and will continue to help other nations in their efforts to modernize their societies, to resist coercion, and to construct and maintain free institutions.

4. The fundamental commitment of the United States is to freedom of the individual, of the community, and of the nation under law. This commitment is the hallmark which distinguishes societies of free men from societies where rule is based on privilege and force. We will continue to work toward perfecting the rule of law at home and encourage its extensions to and among all nations.

5. The United States will continue its full support of the United Nations, seeking in concert with other countries to strengthen the U.N.'s peacekeeping machinery. It will also continue to support U.N. functions which assist all free nations, large and small, to maintain their independence and to move toward political, economic, and social justice.

I believe that these points illustrate the inherent advantage the democracies have in the ideological struggle. USIA intends to press that advantage to the fullest.

'How Badly Were You Overthrown? Will We Have To Scram Or Are They Just Putting Us On The Shelf?'

GOP Platform Reflects Goldwater

By JAMES MARLOW

SAN FRANCISCO

There's a lot of Sen. Barry Goldwater in the campaign promises nailed together by the Republican platform committee. He can be highly satisfied with it.

Although he wanted a short platform, and this is long, he wanted one which was mostly a declaration of principles. In a large sense, that's what it is. And, just because it is, it's all patched over with vagueness.

Anyone reading it would have to stick a big question mark in many of the paragraphs, asking himself: "What does this mean? How will this be done?"

There will be a fight over some parts of it Tuesday on the convention floor by Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton, Goldwater's leading opponent for the Republican presidential nomination. But as of now Scranton's fading fast and probably won't get far.

The foreign policy plank, for instance, starts off with a ringing call for a "dynamic strategy." That's the typical political platform rubber wording.

The Republicans created a big question mark when they went on to say they "reaffirm their long-standing commitment to a course leading to the eventual liberation" of the Red-run countries of Eastern Europe, Asia and Latin America.

John Foster Dulles, later President Eisenhower's secretary of state, talked liberation of the satellites back in 1952. But when he and Eisenhower ran foreign policy later nothing ever came of it. Even when the East Germans and Hungarians revolted nothing was done to help them. Dulles never quite lived down the promise.

The platform also pledges to cut off trade with the Communist countries unless it served to "diminish their power."

The platform promises a "drastic reorganization of foreign aid." This suits Goldwater fine. He had repeatedly voted in the Senate against foreign aid bills.

In speeches around the country he had called for elimination of the graduated income tax, preferring, as he said, to have a system by which poor and rich would pay the same percentage of tax, which would mean a great saving, particularly for the rich.

The senator never repudiated that proposal although he hasn't been mentioning it lately. The platform doesn't go so far as Goldwater but it calls for simplification as well as lowering of the "rates to strengthen individual and business incentives."

Exactly what the platform committee had in mind isn't clear.

Another plank pledges revision of the Social Security laws to "allow higher earnings, without loss of benefits, by our elderly people." Again: No explanation of how this could be done.

Goldwater in the past had talked of putting Social Security on a voluntary basis. This got him criticism and he stopped saying it. Then he said he wanted to strengthen Social Security and make the pension dollar sound. But he never publicly repudiated the idea of a voluntary system.

Goldwater had voted against an increase in the minimum wage law. One platform pledge would provide "incentive for employers to hire teenagers, including broadening of temporary exemptions under the minimum wage law."

The platform also would drastically curtail the power of the National Labor Relations Board, the Federal Trade Commission and the Food and Drug Administration, all of which coincides with Goldwater's calls for less government authority.

The platform also promises two constitutional amendments. But the purpose of one isn't clear. This suggests an amendment to let people exercise their religion in public places but would not undo the Supreme Court's ban on compulsory or prepared religious readings in public schools.

The other slaps at the court which said the membership in both houses of a state legislature must be based on equal proportions of the population. The platform wants an amendment letting one of the two houses choose its membership as it pleases.

Probably the most controversial part of the platform—the one most likely to provoke a convention floor fight—is on civil rights. But oddly enough this part seems to contain one of the clearest pledges, although it doesn't suit Scranton.

It promises "full implementation and faithful execution of the Civil Rights Act of 1960 (which Goldwater voted against) and all other civil rights statutes."

This is the same man who now has shown up to become premier of the Congo Republic, taking the place of Cyrile Adoula, who resigned three hours after the last of the U.N. troops withdrew on June 30.

ADOULA had been backed by the United States; that is true. Tshombe has pledged himself to support the central government and made his reputation as an anti-Communist. That is true, too. Setback for the United States?

Americans go out of their way to look for setbacks so they can feel sorry for themselves and mad at their government.

After all, the Congo Republic has only four years on its history, with 50 years to go before it has even a good start.

The United States hadn't had its first civil war in that short a time.

Let There Be Unity

Unity is relative. In politics it is more relative than in most places. One thinks back over the hatchet-flinging quarrels of recent Democratic conventions — quarrels that left open wounds.

Then one thinks of the Democrats' success in limping to victory despite the quarrels—four times with Franklin D. Roosevelt, once with Harry Truman, once with John F. Kennedy.

Did the Democratic party have unity, in the highest sense? By no means.

Did differing factions of Democrats ever love one another and practice sweet forgiveness. Not the "unreconstructed rebels," as Franklin D. Roosevelt liked to call them. Not the Americans for Democratic Action. Nor the John J. Raskobs, Al Smiths and Henry Wallaces. Nor more recently the Strom Thurmonds and Gov. Wallaces. What, then, held the Democrats together?

It was unity—the kind of unity that cements together a political party when it smells victory. Can bickering Republicans do what bickering Democrats have done so many times in recent years?

That will be the next job for the Goldwater people who have done such a remarkable job of sewing up the Republican presidential nomination—to convince the delegates their man can win the election, too.

The first battle is over. The Republican convention will be the first strategy session for the next one—the big one in November.

A Man Can Change His Mind

When the Democratic National Convention was over in 1960, the third most talked about man in the party, after John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, was LeRoy Collins, governor of Florida, who had presided as convention chairman.

It was no surprise when the National Association of Broadcasters chose him to be its president later in 1960. He had distinguished himself at the Democratic convention with a charming television personality. His wit and level-headed management of the delegates made him a memorable and compelling personality.

He demonstrated his level-headedness again when he was badgered and heckled by Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina after being nominated by President Johnson to be director of the Community Relations Service. This is the agency to work with state and local governments in carrying out the provisions of the new Civil Rights Act.

Sen. Thurmond thinks of himself as a professional rear-guard fighter for the vanquished Confederacy. He had been accusing his fellow Southerner of lack of consistency in his views on civil rights.

The former governor of Florida heard him out patiently. He then admitted there were inconsistencies in his record. "But we all grow and change and have to meet new responsibilities," he said. "I will not contend that I have not changed some of my positions as a result of better understanding."

Sen. Thurmond and his irreconcilable associates of the Deep South do not speak for all Southerners—only those not interested in better understanding.

Time For An Old Refrain

It is noteworthy that Soviet Premier Khrushchev has spent 10 weeks of this year away from his official desk in Moscow—noteworthy because at this point in the United States a clamor would start to make the head man stay home.

In the United States, labor unions and the political opposition elsewhere kept tabs on President Eisenhower's golf games, counting them as time frittered away.

President Kennedy was kept on the defensive for even such minor absences as weekends spent at his country place.

President Roosevelt was chided for nipping up and down the Potomac on the presidential yacht and making "inspection" tours during political campaigns.

President Truman, a homebody, was criticized for going down to Key West and relaxing in a sport shirt.

We don't know how the Russians feel about the gadding about of their head man, or if they know he has been on the move. It might give them a sense of security. When a Russian regime achieves enough stability to let the premier leave Moscow for prolonged periods, things are going smoothly.

If Russians aren't inclined to beef about it, perhaps Americans can take up the theme they have worn threadbare and use it against the Soviet Union's leading salesman:

Stay on the job in Moscow, Nikita Khrushchev. Quit making yourself so darned agreeable to the outlying precincts. The government needs you at your desk every waking hour. Little Brother is watching you.

By Truman Twill

No Love Feast

One thing above all should be kept in mind while the two political parties are organizing for their quadrennial battle.

What the boys say about each other while maneuvering for power in the regrouping of forces for the national campaign is subject to instant forgetfulness.

They are trying to sway opinion hither and yon to suit their conflicting ambitions. Once their personal purposes have been brought into a common front for the national campaign, they will stand shoulder to shoulder and cheek to jowl.

For an up-to-date reminder of the way it works, refer to the hard words flying around when the late John F. Kennedy was nailing down the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960. Refer particularly to the slam-bang primary campaigning of the then young senator from Massachusetts and the dynamic senator from Minnesota, Hubert Humphrey.

Recall the knife-flashing episode at the Democratic National Convention in San Francisco which determined that Lyndon B. Johnson would be the vice presidential candidate and that Adlai E. Stevenson would be appeased by sending him to the United Nations.

WHEN IT WAS over, these bitter rivals and a gaggle of supposedly irreconcilable southern-fried senators and representatives from the chitlings belt were all snuggled up together in one big bed again — one happy, fun-loving crowd.

It nearly always turns out that way.

The boys almost never take their ball and run home in a snit, for one simple and powerful reason. If they want to play ball at all they have to play in the only game there is. Once in a great while they will sulk like Achilles, or go grumping into oblivion like Teddy Roosevelt and his Bull Moosers. But mostly they end up in smoke-filled room with their arms around each other singing, "Hail, hail, the gang's all here."

This is not easy to remember when fur is flying and blood is spattering on the wall - to - wall carpeting of convention hotels.

It is not easy to remember while the big cats are baring their fangs and claws and going yowrrr. But it's the way the game is played.

PARTISAN POLITICS is not brotherly love. It is not a fraternal order, a religious society, or a love feast. It is a loose coalition of ambitious human beings in quest of a mandate from the rank and file to run the show until the curtain goes down.

It is like a ball club organized for the sole purpose of winning ball games. Do the players love one another? Don't be foolish. They're held together by nothing but a common desire to finish first.

USIA To Press Democracies' Strongpoints

While Victor Riesel is gathering material for future columns in Africa and Eastern Europe, leaders in American industrial, labor, professional and political life are pinch-hitting for him.

By CARL ROWAN
Director U.S.I.A.

Anyone seeking to understand the challenges facing the United States Information Agency today must first understand the significance of two recent major developments on the international scene.

The first development is the easing of tensions between the Soviet bloc and the United States; the second is the deep rift between the Soviet Union and Communist China.

On shallow observation one might conclude that both these developments represent an advantage to the United States, and a reduction in the pressure on those charged with protecting the United States' interests in the ideological conflict that has consumed the world since World War II.

The fact is that both these developments greatly increase the pressures and demands on USIA and make its successes and failures all the more vital when viewed in terms of our national interest.

CONSIDER the easing of tension, occasionally referred to by the press as a "detente." What does this mean? Simply that in the wake of the Cuban missile crisis, the Soviet bloc backed away from the brink of thermonuclear war to a "peaceful coexistence" line.

Anyone who assumes that this signaled any slackening of the Communists' efforts to win the world to their ideology need only refer to the many comments on the subject by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

For example, on April 23 Tass quoted Khrushchev as saying in an interview with a correspondent from Italy's Il Giorno: "We have always advocated. . . . that war should be excluded forever from the life of human society. . . But at the same time we Communists have never agreed, and never will agree, to the idea of peaceful co-existence in ideologies. In this there can be no compromise."

A look at recent Soviet propaganda efforts shows that Khrushchev meant what he said. The Soviets recently reduced sharply their broadcasting in Europe in order to increase programming beamed at Latin America, Africa and South and Southeast Asia—areas of direct confrontation with the Western democracies and also with the Chinese Communists.

THIS YEAR, the U.S.S.R. began broadcasting to Africa in two new languages, Zulu and Lingala. It increased Spanish Broadcasts to Latin America 17 per cent.

The Soviets, Communist Chinese and Castro Cubans are now beaming 420 hours of programming a week at our neighbors to the South, and the Soviets are showing intensified interest in Nepal and India.

Nepalese broadcasts were doubled in May. Hindi broadcasts to India were increased and broadcasts were begun in Malayalam. The latter is spoken in South India, chiefly Kerala State, where an election is coming up soon.

Communists boast that they have a good chance of winning that election and the Soviets broadcasting pattern to try to increase chances of victory.

These recent program changes raise the Soviet total of international broadcasts to 1,354 hours a week, considerably more than Red China, with some 900 hours weekly, the Voice of America, with 800 hours, and BBC, with 630.

THE COMMUNIST ideological offensive is promoted with zeal in every other area of communications, for one reason because the Russians and Chinese are struggling to outdo each other. Especially in the developing countries, each is fighting to dominate the press, youth groups, labor unions, educational systems and every other organ or institution that influences what men believe.

The free world cannot afford to have either the Russians or the Chinese succeed—thus USIA is today waging the most vigorous campaign in its history.

We intend, to the extent that our resources permit, to ensure that no man anywhere chooses tyranny because he has not heard the message of freedom.

Through our broadcasts, motion pictures, wireless file, books and pamphlets, and other means we seek to alert the world to the fact that the Communist giants come bearing slavery in the name of liberation, totalitarianism under the label of democracy and human bondage in the name of freedom.

FOR THE MOST PART our approach is positive. We seek most of all to have the world understand what the United States is and what it hopes to be. I spelled that out this way recently before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"America is capitalism with a conscience—a country in which laborers own homes, automobiles, new refrigerators, but more important, where ordinary men have an extraordinary voice in the affairs of their government.

"America is a rocket pinpointed on the moon and Polaris submarines cruising as sentinels of the deep—military might never surpassed in history, but might harassed by a sense of responsibility for man's destiny and by a national desire for peace within freedom.

"And this nation is social ferment—a society caught up in concern for its aged and its ill, full of compassion for its improverished. . . a people struggling as no society ever struggled to achieve a unity that transcends the incidental boundaries of religion, race, national origin.

"America is leadership—a nation whose destiny it has become to man the far-flung ramparts of freedom, marching with the fearful and the weak, the hungry and the harassed, toward the goal of a peaceful world community of free and independent states.

". . . brevity forbids my saying all that this nation is. But I think that I have said enough to justify my fundamental belief that all we need wish the world to know about us is the truth.

"Through face-to-face contracts, through television films and radio, and through the printed word, we shall spread the truth, and I am confident that the truth will keep us free."

In trying to extend these truths to the hearts and minds of people everywhere, we in USIA have developed a system of priorities. These are the five themes on which all our media concentrate.

THEY ARE themes that reflect official policy, and are periodically examined and revised wherever required. They are:

1. The United States has no more urgent task than the pursuit of peace.

2. The United States, matured and tested under the responsibilities of free world leadership, will maintain its strength in all fields to protect its own freedom and to aid in the defense of other free nations against threats to their independence and institutions. The United States can and will keep its commitments to its allies and to other countries.

3. The United States believes in a peaceful world community of free and independent states, free to choose their own future, free to build and change their own systems so long as they do not threaten the freedom of others. We believe in the dignity of the individual, and will continue to help other nations in their efforts to modernize their societies, to resist coercion, and to construct and maintain free institutions.

4. The fundamental commitment of the United States is to freedom of the individual, of the community, and of the nation under law. This commitment is the hallmark which distinguishes societies of free men from societies where rule is based on privilege and force. We will continue to work toward perfecting the rule of law at home and encourage its extensions to and among all nations.

5. The United States will continue its full support of the United Nations, seeking in concert with other countries to strengthen the U.N.'s peacekeeping machinery. It will also continue to support U.N. functions which assist all free nations, large and small, to maintain their independence and to move toward political, economic, and social justice.

I believe that these points illustrate the inherent advantage the democracies have in the ideological struggle. USIA intends to press that advantage to the fullest.

'How Badly Were You Overthrown? Will We Have To Scram Or Are They Just Putting Us On The Shelf?'

GOP Platform Reflects Goldwater

By JAMES MARLOW

SAN FRANCISCO

There's a lot of Sen. Barry Goldwater in the campaign promises nailed together by the Republican platform committee. He can be highly satisfied with it.

Although he wanted a short platform, and this is long, he wanted one which was mostly a declaration of principles. In a large sense, that's what it is. And, just because it is, it's all patched over with vagueness.

Anyone reading it would have to stick a big question mark in many of the paragraphs, asking himself: "What does this mean? How will this be done?"

There will be a fight over some parts of it Tuesday on the convention floor by Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton, Goldwater's leading opponent for the Republican presidential nomination. But as of now Scranton's fading fast and probably won't get far.

The foreign policy plank, for instance, starts off with a ringing call for a "dynamic strategy." That's the typical political platform rubber wording.

The Republicans created a big question mark when they went on to say they "reaffirm their long-standing commitment to a course leading to the eventual liberation" of the Red-run countries of Eastern Europe, Asia and Latin America.

John Foster Dulles, later President Eisenhower's secretary of state, talked liberation of the satellites back in 1952. But when he and Eisenhower ran foreign policy later nothing ever came of it. Even when the East Germans and Hungarians revolted nothing was done to help them. Dulles never quite lived down the promise.

The platform also pledges to cut off trade with the Communist countries unless it served to "diminish their power."

The platform promises a "drastic reorganization of foreign aid." This suits Goldwater fine. He had repeatedly voted in the Senate against foreign aid bills.

In speeches around the country he had called for elimination of the graduated income tax, preferring, as he said, to have a system by which poor and rich would pay the same percentage of tax, which would mean a great saving, particularly for the rich.

The senator never repudiated that proposal although he hasn't been mentioning it lately. The platform doesn't go so far as Goldwater but it calls for simplification as well as lowering of the "rates to strengthen individual and business incentives."

Exactly what the platform committee had in mind isn't clear.

Another plank pledges revision of the Social Security laws to "allow higher earnings, without loss of benefits, by our elderly people." Again: No explanation of how this could be done.

Goldwater in the past had talked of putting Social Security on a voluntary basis. This got him criticism and he stopped saying it. Then he said he wanted to strengthen Social Security and make the pension dollar sound. But he never publicly repudiated the idea of a voluntary system.

Goldwater had voted against an increase in the minimum wage law. One platform pledge would provide "incentive for employers to hire teenagers, including broadening of temporary exemptions under the minimum wage law."

The platform also would drastically curtail the power of the National Labor Relations Board, the Federal Trade Commission and the Food and Drug Administration, all of which coincides with Goldwater's calls for less government authority.

The platform also promises two constitutional amendments. But the purpose of one isn't clear. This suggests an amendment to let people exercise their religion in public places but would not undo the Supreme Court's ban on compulsory or prepared religious readings in public schools.

The other slaps at the court which said the membership in both houses of a state legislature must be based on equal proportions of the population. The platform wants an amendment letting one of the two houses choose its membership as it pleases.

Probably the most controversial part of the platform—the one most likely to provoke a convention floor fight—is on civil rights. But oddly enough this part seems to contain one of the clearest pledges, although it doesn't suit Scranton.

It promises "full implementation and faithful execution of the Civil Rights Act of 1960 (which Goldwater voted against) and all other civil rights statutes."

It's a long platform. Only a few parts have been touched on here.

Mediators Eye Early Peace In Road Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—By the time Ohio's soggy highway construction sites are dried out state peacemakers are hopeful that they will have settled a strike by the International Union of Operating Engineers.

The effect was postponed after statewide rain Sunday made any work nearly impossible.

Federal Mediator H. J. Montoney, who met with representatives of the two sides until the early hours today, said he was quite optimistic over the ground covered. However, he would not say what issues remain in question.

Among 10 Mishaps

Driver, 19, Hurt As Auto Crashes

A Carroll County youth, thrown from his car when it crashed into an embankment near Salineville Sunday morning, was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with back injuries.

Tim Lee Kinch, 19, of Hickory Rd., Carrollton R. D. 3, was injured in the one-car mishap yesterday at 11:45 a. m. on Route 39 a tenth of a mile east of the Salineville corporation limits, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Officers reported nine other accidents over the weekend.

Kinch lost control of his 1959 sedan on a curve. It went off the left side of the highway and rammed the embankment, officers said. He suffered contusions of the abdomen and contusions of several areas of the back.

CHARLES HOPPEL, 40, of R. D. 2 was cited for improper back after his 1962 station wagon struck a parked car owned by James Logston, 28, of Chester R. D. 1 Sunday at 1:55 a. m. on Route 30 about seven-tenths a mile north of East Liverpool.

Officers said Hoppel was backing from a private parking lot when his car struck the Logston vehicle. Minor damage resulted to both.

Mrs. Margaret Ann Brewer, 29, of 177 Haywood St. was cited after a two-car crash Sunday at 12:40 p. m. at Stop 55 in Glenmoor.

Officers reported she halted for a stop sign at the intersection and then pulled into the path of a car driven by Kenneth Lloyd Crane, 17, of Berkshire Rd., R. D. 3. Moderate damage resulted to both vehicles.

CARS DRIVEN by William V. Seminara, 45, of Warren and Fred Harry Landsberger, 42, of East Palestine R. D. 1 were involved in a minor collision Sunday at 12:15 p. m. on Route 14 about 200 feet west of Route 164.

Both were southbound when Landsberger pulled to the left and was struck by the Seminara car, according to the patrol.

A Rhode Island youth was cited to Juvenile Court after a two-car crash Sunday at 2:30 p. m. on Route 154 a mile and a quarter east of Rogers.

THE MISHAP involved cars driven by William L. Carpenter, 61, of Sandy Valley and Raymond St. Sauveur, 17, of Rhode Island.

Both were eastbound when St. Sauveur started to make a left turn without giving a signal. He was hit in the rear by the Carpenter vehicle.

Cars driven by Samuel Grant Clutter, 47, of Peckville, Pa., and Frank Allen Fisher, 20, of R. D. 3 were involved in a crash Sunday at 9:10 p. m. on Route 30 two and a half miles east of Route 7.

A crash Saturday at 10:30 a. m. on Black's Rd. about two miles south of Lisbon involved cars driven by M. Calvin Ketchum, 20, of Lisbon R. D. 1 and Timonthy Lee Wilfong, 16, of Lisbon R. D. 2. Both were left of center at a hillcrest, officers said. They veered away from each other after the collision.

The three other accidents investigated by the patrol were in the northern section of the county. No one was injured.

Alliance Woman Hurt When Auto Overturns

Fay Russell, 20, of Alliance suffered a scalp laceration when an auto skidded and overturned on wet pavement on a curve on Route 151 two miles south of Hookstown Sunday at 5:05 p. m., according to the Chippewa Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police.

She was a passenger in an auto driven by Janice K. Anderson, 22, also of Alliance, who was unhurt, police said.

Damage was estimated at $1,000.

2 In DeMolay Given Degree

The Chavalier degree was conferred on William Brokaw and John Geren Saturday night at a meeting of Harding Chapter, Order of DeMolay, at the Masonic Temple.

Brokaw is a charter member of the local chapter, since it was reactivated in 1958. A student at Marietta College, he has been athletic chairman for the last two years and was elected president of the State Representative DeMolay Club, in 1963.

Geren, a member of the chapter three years, is a past master councilor and holds the past master councilor's meritorious award. He is a DeMolay representative.

The investiture team was comprised of Clifford Conley, Robert Kidd, Samuel Brown, Robert Weaver and James Walker, all Chevaliers of the local chapter.

The honor guard consisted of David Hoffman, Kenneth Pelley, Win Myers and Donald Eckert, who also are recipients of the Chevalier degree.

3 Injured In Bus-Truck Collision

Despite heavy damage to both vehicles, only three persons were injured slightly when a Greyhound Bus returning patrons from Waterford Park Race Track crashed into the rear of a truck Saturday night on Route 30, five miles east of Hookstown.

Pennsylvania State Police at Carnegie said the bus operated by Richard Mays, 27, of Coulters, Pa., struck the rear of a truck driven by Mrs. Sadie Abraham, 49, of Monessen.

Mrs. Abraham suffered back injuries and two passengers on the bus were hurt—none seriously enough to require treatment, the officers said. Hurt aboard the bus were Ray Fisher of Charleroi, who suffered injuries of the right ribs, and his wife, Delores, who was injured about the ribs and chest.

Both vehicles were headed east, with the bus following the truck, when the bus pulled out to pass the truck, officers said. At the same time, the woman driver started a left turn in the truck. The two vehicles went off the highway and onto the lawn of a home nearby.

It's 'Exchange Program'

Michigan 4-H Members Arrive On Visit In County

LISBON — Nine older 4-H members and three adults from St. Joseph County, Mich., are enjoying six days of Columbiana County hospitality this week.

The 4-H'ers and leaders are sharing in the everyday life of 11 families throughout the county, according to Robert Lewis, county extension agent in 4-H work.

It all started Sunday when the group from Michigan arrived for a picnic with their host families at Guilford Lake. The rest of the week will consist of sharing with the chores around the home and helping with work on the farms.

Included in the busy schedule for the visitors is taking part in the local 4-H Club activities and seeing some of the points of interest in the county. The guests also will meet with the county junior leaders at their regular monthly meeting Thursday.

The entire program has been planned by a committee of junior leaders with assistance from parents of 4-H advisors.

The program is patterned after the International Farm Youth Exchange Program where young people from other countries exchange visits. The objective is to obtain a better understanding of how people live in other countries, exchange ideas, and spread goodwill.

The program is being carried out in an effort to accomplish the same objectives on an interstate basis. The 4-H'ers and advisors will be looking for fresh ideas that can be used in the local and county 4-H program.

One unique feature of the program is the direct exchange between counties. Starting Sunday, three boys and five girls from Columbiana County will be traveling to Michigan to live with families in St. Joseph County. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baker of Lisbon R. D. 5 and Mrs. Catherine Berchtold of Fairfield Ave., Columbiana, 4-H advisors, will accompany the county group to Michigan.

The host families for this weeks visit are:

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Serafy and Mr. and Mrs. Jason Frischkorn, both Wellsville R. D. 1; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Porter, East Liverpool R. D. 1; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wickersham, East Rochester R. D. 1; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bloor, Leetonia R. D. 1; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thomas, Salem R. D. 2; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jenkins, Rogers; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lowmiller, Minerva R. D. 2; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller, Columbiana R. D. 2; Mr. and Mrs. William Cope, New Waterford R. D. 1, and Mrs. Berchtold.

Midway Meeting Set

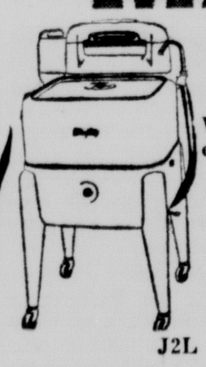

LISBON — Midway Grange will meet Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. at its hall between Lisbon and Columbiana. Harold Knee, master, will preside.

3 Injured In Bus-Truck Collision

Despite heavy damage to both vehicles, only three persons were injured slightly when a Greyhound Bus returning patrons from Waterford Park Race Track crashed into the rear of a truck Saturday night on Route 30, five miles east of Hookstown.

Pennsylvania State Police at Carnegie said the bus operated by Richard Mays, 27, of Coulters, Pa., struck the rear of a truck driven by Mrs. Sadie Abraham, 49, of Monessen.

Mrs. Abraham suffered back injuries and two passengers on the bus were hurt—none seriously enough to require treatment, the officers said. Hurt aboard the bus were Ray Fisher of Charleroi, who suffered injuries of the right ribs, and his wife, Delores, who was injured about the ribs and chest.

Officers estimated $1,500 damage to the bus and about $500 damage to the truck.

Both vehicles were headed east, with the bus following the truck, when the bus pulled out to pass the truck, officers said. At the same time, the woman driver started a left turn in the truck. The two vehicles went off the highway and onto the lawn of a home nearby.

Michigan 4-H Members Arrive On Visit In County

LISBON — Nine older 4-H members and three adults from St. Joseph County, Mich., are enjoying six days of Columbiana County hospitality this week.

The 4-H'ers and leaders are sharing in the everyday life of 11 families throughout the county, according to Robert Lewis, county extension agent in 4-H work.

It all started Sunday when the group from Michigan arrived for a picnic with their host families at Guilford Lake. The rest of the week will consist of sharing with the chores around the home and helping with work on the farms.

Included in the busy schedule for the visitors is taking part in the local 4-H Club activities and seeing some of the points of interest in the county. The guests also will meet with the county junior leaders at their regular monthly meeting Thursday.

The entire program has been planned by a committee of junior leaders with assistance from parents of 4-H advisors.

The program is patterned after the International Farm Youth Exchange Program where young people from other countries exchange visits. The objective is to obtain a better understanding of how people live in other countries, exchange ideas, and spread goodwill.

The program is being carried out in an effort to accomplish the same objectives on an interstate basis. The 4-H'ers and advisors will be looking for fresh ideas that can be used in the local and county 4-H program.

One unique feature of the program is the direct exchange between counties. Starting Sunday, three boys and five girls from Columbiana County will be traveling to Michigan to live with families in St. Joseph County. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baker of Lisbon R. D. 5 and Mrs. Catherine Berchtold of Fairfield Ave., Columbiana, 4-H advisors, will accompany the county group to Michigan.

The host families for this weeks visit are:

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Serafy and Mr. and Mrs. Jason Frischkorn, both Wellsville R. D. 1; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Porter, East Liverpool R. D. 1; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wickersham, East Rochester R. D. 1; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bloor, Leetonia R. D. 1; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thomas, Salem R. D. 2; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jenkins, Rogers; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lowmiller, Minerva R. D. 2; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller, Columbiana R. D. 2; Mr. and Mrs. William Cope, New Waterford R. D. 1, and Mrs. Berchtold.

Midway Meeting Set

LISBON — Midway Grange will meet Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. at its hall between Lisbon and Columbiana. Harold Knee, master, will preside.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Have you ever ironed a freshly laundered blouse or shirt and found an underarm odor is still there?

I keep a bottle of vinegar in my utility room and before washing these items, I tip the bottle lightly under each sleeve of the garment, rub it, and, presto, it removes any odor. Then I wash as usual.

I have used this method for many years and have found it will not damage any washable material.

VETA MINDERMAN.

DEAR VETA: Vinegar is also excellent when rinsing socks.

After washing the socks and rinsing as usual, re-rinse in a basin of water to which has been added about one-third cup of vinegar. I usually let them sit a few minutes, then wring the socks out and let them dry.

I do not rinse this vinegar water out. The odor of the vinegar will leave once the socks have dried.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: With nine grandchildren to sew and mend for, buttons are always at a premium.

So now when I make a new garment I sew extra buttons to match the garments on the inside along a seam and when needed they are there and ready to use.

MRS. FENTON BRUBAKER.

DEAR HELOISE: One of my most helpful household hints is to use hair spray to stop a stocking run or hole—instead of fingernail polish.

The spray washes out nicely when you are ready to mend the run.

MRS. F. C.

DEAR HELOISE: When I repair the cracks in our plaster walls, I mix the plaster with vinegar water instead of plain water. I use half water and half vinegar.

I find that vinegar keeps the plaster from setting quickly; it's soft like putty and I can push it into the cracks and smooth it to perfection. By dipping a paint brush in water and "painting" the repaired place, then using a trowel or spatula, I have a perfect surface.

Most of us who have plaster in our homes know that when you mix a batch of it for patching those holes, nicks and cracks, that it gets hard before you can complete the job.

I am sure that millions of people would love to know this trick.

I asked two plasterers if this man was right. They blushed and smiled but admitted that it was so! Professionals don't often tell their secrets, do they?

Thanks, Arnold for keeping me on my toes.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: My hint is for all banana lovers.

When making that banana cream pie, use your egg slicer for perfect uniform slices and cut down on the time spent slicing with a pairing knife.

Break off lengths of the banana the size of the slicer—then. . . kerplunk, you have nine slices with one swoop of the slicer.

ADELINE BUETOW.

DEAR HELOISE: Not long ago one of your readers told how she put a piece of yardstick covered with foil between her stove and sink to keep things from falling between them.

I bought three large colored sponges to match the decor in my kitchen and cut them in half. I put these between the stove and the sink where that space was.

When the sponges get soiled I take them out, wash and dry them, and put them back. they do not slip or slide, but stay in place, thereby solving the problem of this open space where dirt and soil accumulate.

ST. PARIS.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

When One Laughs

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The announcer was describing a gun battle that occurred on the city's outskirts and breathlessly told the radio audience: "The incident resulted in two men being shot. One was wounded."

New Pacts May Set Pattern In Rubber Industry

CLEVELAND (AP) — Contract agreements between the United Rubber Workers Union and three of the "Big Five" in the rubber industry are expected to set the pattern for other companies.

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. were scheduled to sign their pacts today, and General Tire & Rubber Co. around Wednesday or Thursday. The agreements cover 41,300 production workers throughout the country.

The settlements, subject to ratification by URW locals at the various plants, call for improvements in pensions, insurance and hospitalization. They run three years, effective Aug. 1.

Wages, not an issue in these talks, come up for discussion next spring.

Contracts of all three rubber firms expired at midnight Friday. The union struck Firestone, reached an agreement with General Tire early Saturday morning and continued negotiations with Goodyear.

The contracts provide increases in existing life insurance, hospitalization and surgical benefits, extension of some benefits to cover retirees and their wives, and higher pension payments.

Hearing Due July 25 For New City Budget

A public hearing on the city budget for 1965 will be held Saturday, July 25, at noon at City Hall, Auditor Lawrence J. Zollinger announced today.

State law requires the hearing before the figures are approved officially by Council and then passed on to the County Budget Commission at Lisbon, which makes the final determination on the amounts the city may appropriate for the new year.

The budget commission's certificate of estimated resources will be used as the basis for the annual appropriation ordinance, which will be enacted in the spring of 1965.

Music Workshop Due For Sheridan Church

A music workshop for singers, directors and pianists will be held Tuesday through Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the Sheridan African Methodist Episcopal Church, in charge of Earl Preston Jr., dean of the department of music of the National Convention of Gospel Choirs and Choruses, Inc.

Preston will teach theory, directing, piano and voice training at each session. He is a widely-known director of gospel music. The sessions are open to the public.

Afternoon sessions will be held at 1180 Erie St.

Picnic Set Wednesday For Glenmoor Church

The annual picnic of the Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church will be held Wednesday afternoon and evening on the grounds of the manse on Route 267.

Mr. and Mrs. Gale Williams will be general chairmen. Mrs. Dorothy Fenton will arrange juvenile games. Men and boys of the church will compete in a softball game.

Dinner will be served at 6. Those attending are to take table service and a picnic basket. Beverages and ice cream will be furnished.

Hard Talk Scheduled In Soft Drink Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Representatives of the Cleveland soft drink distributors and the Teamsters local were to return to the bargaining table today in an effort to settle a 14-day - old strike.

Five hundred driver-salesmen struck 20 distributors in a contract dispute. Contracts have been signed between the union and 14 independent bottlers, but they account for only 15 per cent of the market.

Freedom Schools Part Of Rights Movement

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—They call them schools, but there aren't any report cards, bells or football teams.

The students are Negroes. The teachers are white.

They are called "Freedom Schools"—part of the sweeping civil rights movement in Mississippi being directed by the Council of Federated Organizations, which coordinates activities of the major civil rights groups.

The teachers work from 8 a.m. until noon and again from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. in night classes. Their classrooms are in Negro churches, garages and sometimes in private homes.

At Hattiesburg, there is a teacher shortage already. Some 575 students ranging in age from 8 to 82 are registered. Another school has only 15 pupils.

The schools are striving to teach subjects and ideas which a COFO spokesman says "are not normally available" to the Negro.

The students in the 8-12 age group study reading, writing, spelling, Negro history and general mathematics.

Those older can choose courses from the language arts, American history, social studies science and math.

Women Of Madison Church Complete Work On Quilting

Work on a quilt for the service project layette was completed Thursday when 12 members of the Missionary Society of the Madison Presbyterian Church met with Mrs. Clifford Hammond of East Liverpool Rd.

A coverdish dinner at noon followed the forenoon quilting project. The group received acknowledgements from Sen. Frank Lausche and Sen. Stephen M. Young, who had been sent letters asking support of the civil rights bill.

It was announced three children will attend Beaver Creek United Presbyterian Church Camp, starting Aug. 26. The Missionary Society will sponsor one of the youngsters while the church Bible School will pay the expenses of the other two.

Sewing Day Slated

Mrs. Regis Scharf presented the program, "Ministering to Lepers." A sewing day will be held at the church Thursday, July 23, to repair used clothing for the East Liverpool Rescue Mission.

Mrs. Frank Padurean of the Old East Liverpool Rd. will be hostess Aug. 13. Mrs. Earl Souders will be program chairman.

The auxiliary of the Lisbon Eagles Lodge will meet Tuesday night at 8. Mrs. Arthur Morris, president, will preside.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Jack Rutter of Carey, formerly of Lisbon, visited over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Weinstock of Franklin Square Rd. Their son, Gary, was a guest of Kim Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Manning of Teagarden Rd., who returned home with the Rutters for a visit.

Visits From Texas

Mrs. Robert Smith, the former Miss Phala Cannon of Lake Jackson, Tex., has arrived for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cannon of E. Lincoln Way and also will visit with her husband's sister in Youngstown. Smith is associated with the Dow Chemical Co. in Freeport, Tex.

Airman 3C Donald L. Smith is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd D. Smith of West Point. Formerly stationed at Lackland and Sheppard Air Force Bases in Texas, he will report to the Havery Air Defense Command in Montana July 30. Airman Smith, a graduate of Beaver Local High School, enlisted in January.

Markets Stock First Supply Of Homegrown Sweet Corn

The first homegrown sweet corn has appeared in area markets, but in limited quantities that will grow gradually until the season begins in earnest in early August, according to Ed Watkins, market information agent with the agriculture extension service in Canfield.

Arrival of the first locally-grown corn has helped reduce prices, he commented. Northeast Ohio apparently will produce a normal crop of roasting ears, as growing weather has been excellent and growers report the quality will be "excellent," he said.

Several items of produce which have been above average in price are now trending downward. Watermelons are now close to the low point in price for this season. This level of prices will likely hold fairly steady for the rest of this month.

Potato prices, which have been extremely strong this spring are beginning to ease downward. Production statistics indicate moderate prices by mid-August.

Economical selections in vegetables include cabbage, beets, cucumbers, radishes, lettuce, carrots, and escarole.

Homegrown produce now available includes green beans, beets, carrots, celery, corn, currants, endive, tomatoes, and summer squash. Greens, lettuce, green onions, peas, radishes, and raspberries are also available.

Some additional variety for fresh fruits is true of most markets this week. None is especially low priced except watermelon.

A few more early varieties of apples from more Southerly production areas is supplementing the last of the 1963 crop coming from controlled atmosphere storage. Most of these varieties are better suited for pies and sauce than for eating fresh.

A sprinkling of very early local peach varieties in beginning to appear. Fruit this season will be available in volume during the first week of August.

Fresh blueberries are in season. Prices are now about as reasonable as at any time during the production season. Some blueberries are grown in Ohio but most of the crop sold here comes from New Jersey and Michigan.

Other fruit choices in local stores include apricots, cherries, nectarines, plums, pears, and pineapple.

Wellsville Youth Suffers Injury As Scooter Falls

An 18-year-old Wellsville youth was in "good" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered when a motor scooter he was riding fell on him Sunday morning.

Three other persons injured Sunday were treated at the hospital.

William Bratt, son of William Bratt, 319 Wells Ave., Wellsville, suffered a laceration of the lower left leg and heel when the scooter fell. He had been working on the vehicle and was testing it in the parking lot of a nearby food market.

Mrs. Nora O'Neill, 1403 Boyce Ave., Wellsville, suffered a closed fracture of the left wrist in a fall Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Lenora Fulmer of Drain St. cut her right index finger on a piece of glass at home.

Bobby Ward, 3, son of Hugh Ward, 835 Alton St., suffered lacerations and contusions of the forehead when he fell against a sharp object last night.

Pam Woods Crowned Queen Of Girls' Session At 'Y' Camp

Pam Woods was crowned queen Friday night as a climax of the first girls' session of the season at the YMCA's Pine Ridge Camp in Madison Township.

Gerry Young and Barbie Miller were named the queen's attendants.

Two additional sessions for girls are scheduled this season. One will begin July 19 and close on July 25 and the other will be Aug. 2-8.

In a style show that marked last week's session, Edith Werkheiser and Lari French won in the prettiest costume classification.

Tottles Mackall won competition for the funniest costume and Barbie Miller was first in the "most original" bracket. Gerry Young and Terri Bayer were judged the best couple.

Winners in the track meet were:

Evangelist Calls Jesus Disturber

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham called Christ "a great disturber" during the third session of his 10-day Ohio Crusade at Jet Stadium Sunday night.

"You don't want Christ coming into your life and disturbing it," he charged. "You want to live it in your own way."

Don't come if you don't want to be disturbed." ..

Despite the warning, a Graham staff member said, 850 persons came forward after the evangelist's message to an overflow crowd of 22,500.

The baseball stadium seats 12,000 so thousands overflowed onto the outfield grass which was soaked by a day-long rain that ended shortly before the evening service started. A staff member said groups of 20 or more persons from 107 communities outside Columbus attended.

The attendance boosted the over-all total for three services to over 70,000. Among those on the platform Sunday night were Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn Sr. of New Concord, parents of the nation's first orbiting astronaut.

In spite of political unrest, increasing numbers of tourists are visiting Kashmir, especially the green valley known as the Vale of Kashmir.

Va.) Nature Leaders Training Camp.

A coverdish dinner at noon followed the forenoon quilting project. The group received acknowledgements from Sen. Frank Lausche and Sen. Stephen M. Young, who had been sent letters asking support of the civil rights bill.

It was announced three children will attend Beaver Creek United Presbyterian Church Camp, starting Aug. 26. The Missionary Society will sponsor one of the youngsters while the church Bible School will pay the expenses of the other two.

Sewing Day Slated

Mrs. Regis Scharf presented the program, "Ministering to Lepers." A sewing day will be held at the church Thursday, July 23, to repair used clothing for the East Liverpool Rescue Mission.

Mrs. Frank Padurean of the Old East Liverpool Rd. will be hostess Aug. 13. Mrs. Earl Souders will be program chairman.

The auxiliary of the Lisbon Eagles Lodge will meet Tuesday night at 8. Mrs. Arthur Morris, president, will preside.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Jack Rutter of Carey, formerly of Lisbon, visited over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Weinstock of Franklin Square Rd. Their son, Gary, was a guest of Kim Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Manning of Teagarden Rd., who returned home with the Rutters for a visit.

Visits From Texas

Mrs. Robert Smith, the former Miss Phala Cannon of Lake Jackson, Tex., has arrived for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cannon of E. Lincoln Way and also will visit with her husband's sister in Youngstown. Smith is associated with the Dow Chemical Co. in Freeport, Tex.

Markets Stock First Supply Of Homegrown Sweet Corn

The first homegrown sweet corn has appeared in area markets, but in limited quantities that will grow gradually until the season begins in earnest in early August, according to Ed Watkins, market information agent with the agriculture extension service in Canfield.

Arrival of the first locally-grown corn has helped reduce prices, he commented. Northeast Ohio apparently will produce a normal crop of roasting ears, as growing weather has been excellent and growers report the quality will be "excellent," he said.

Several items of produce which have been above average in price are now trending downward. Watermelons are now close to the low point in price for this season. This level of prices will likely hold fairly steady for the rest of this month.

Potato prices, which have been extremely strong this spring are beginning to ease downward. Production statistics indicate moderate prices by mid-August.

Homegrown produce now available includes green beans, beets, carrots, celery, corn, currants, endive, tomatoes, and summer squash. Greens, lettuce, green onions, peas, radishes, and raspberries are also available.

Some additional variety for fresh fruits is true of most markets this week. None is especially low priced except watermelon.

A few more early varieties of apples from more Southerly production areas is supplementing the last of the 1963 crop coming from controlled atmosphere storage. Most of these varieties are better suited for pies and sauce than for eating fresh.

A sprinkling of very early local peach varieties in beginning to appear. Fruit this season will be available in volume during the first week of August.

Fresh blueberries are in season. Prices are now about as reasonable as at any time during the production season. Some blueberries are grown in Ohio but most of the crop sold here comes from New Jersey and Michigan.

Other fruit choices in local stores include apricots, cherries, nectarines, plums, pears, and pineapple.

Steel Shows Competition

CLEVELAND (AP)—Competition in the steel industry is sharper than it has been since the 1958 recession, Steel Magazine reported today.

"That's hard to believe in a year when steel consumption is breaking records and raw steel output promises to surpass that of record 1955, but it's a fact," the weekly trade publication reported.

"They've cut prices selectively . . . and geographically (by eliminating regional premiums)," Steel said, "but they're holding the price line generally.

"They've always treated their automotive accounts well, but the attention they're giving auto makers and most other customers today makes past treatment seem casual."

Delivery in Detroit is "almost instantaneous," Steel said. Delivery on hot rolled sheets takes four days, with 10 days for cold rolled.

"Steelmakers who want to sell in Detroit, Chicago and other steel consuming centers may soon be on the outside looking in if they're not prepared to serve those markets from nearby plants," Steel observed.

In respect to quality, "new and improved mills are providing sheets and plates that are flatter, smoother, and more uniform than any that have been offered previously."

Ingot production this week was forecast at about the same level as last week, when Steel estimated the industry poured 2,288,000 tons.

Woman Kills Husband In Cincinnati Chase

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pinkey Ray, 48, was shot and killed by his wife, Lena, Sunday night following an argument, police said.

Police said neighbors reported Mrs. Ray, 34, was chasing her husband through the yard and shot him in the chest with a revolver when he stumbled and fell. Mrs. Ray was admitted to a hospital with a bullet wound in her right leg, which police believe was self-inflicted.

Those With Experience Are Smart Home Buyers

Most real estate people agree that the smartest home buyers are those who have purchased homes before. They are the ones who really know what to look for.

The Plumbing - Heating-Cooling Information Bureau of Chicago reports that this wisdom often comes more from what their previous homes didn't have than from what they had. Dissatisfaction is an able teacher.

It has been found, for instance, that almost all repeat buyers insist on at least two bathrooms. In most cases, this demand stems from former homes that had "overdemand" for "underfacilities". Anyone who has endured this situation for any period of time will naturally think twice before repeating the mistake.

Another "never again" item that many home owners steer away from is the small, inadequate kitchen sink. Most homemakers now prefer the double-bowl variety, equipped with food waste disposer. Dishwashing is a much simpler chore with this arrangement, since dishes can be scraped, washed and rinsed in one simple procedure, saving both time and work.

Wise home builders have recognized these demands and now build homes with bathroom and kitchen facilities to match. For maximum convenience, in fact, some even provide a bath for every bedroom and two separate kitchen sink installations.

Though inadequate plumbing is often the cause that leads families to search for new quarters, it isn't always necessary to move in order to get satisfaction. The Bureau advises that more and more home owners today get the kind of bathrooms and kitchens they want simply by remodeling their present homes.

In either case, whether buying or staying put, there is no longer any need to suffer "plumbing deficiency anemia." Take a tip from those who know — provide your home with plenty of facilities and you'll get plenty of satisfaction.

Eagle Feathers Slated For Indian Tribe Use

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government let it be known today it is sending 1,000 eagle feathers to the Indian tribes of the Southwest.

Eagle feathers are highly important to ceremonial costumes of several Southwest Indian tribes, the Interior Department said, but the feathers have been hard to get.

Federal laws safeguard eagles, their feathers, nests and eggs. Nobody may possess them unless he has a permit from the secretary of the interior or acquired them before protective laws were passed.

Interior's Fish and Wildlife Service has salvaged the feathers from some 20 eagles found dead in different parts of the country, primarily in North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Missouri.

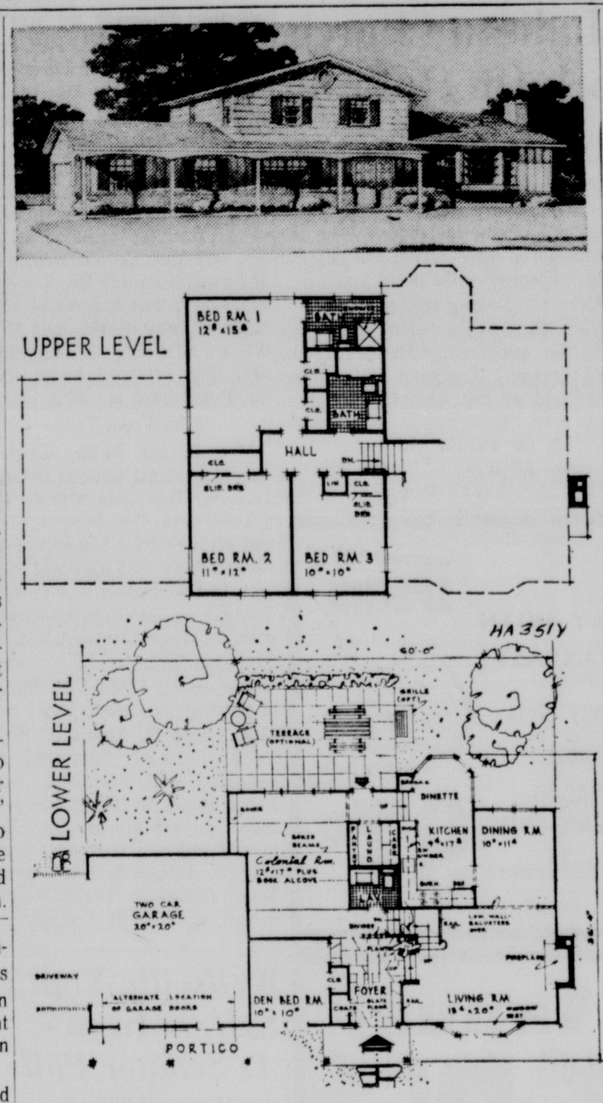

The larger undamaged wing and tail feathers are being sent to the Wildlife Service's regional office in Albuquerque, N.M., for distribution among the tribes.

Foil And Shellac Used For Repairing Mirror

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

The actual resilvering of a mirror is a job for a professional who has the skill and the equipment for handling metallic mercury, but a very excellent substitute for the professional job is suggested here.

To do this work properly, the back of the looking glass is removed and the glass set face down on a table.

The parts of the back which have been scratched or otherwise damaged so that the silvering is gone are cleaned very carefully with cotton. When the glass is clean, a piece of ordinary tin foil is laid over the damaged area, overlapping the edges of the defective spot. The foil must be clean and well rolled or ironed out so that there are no folds or creases in it.

The next step is to apply a coat of white shellac and allow it to dry thoroughly. This should take a half hour. After this a second and then a third coat are applied with plenty of drying time entirely up to the costly job of actual resilvering, it will hide the bad spots to an astonishing degree.

A coat of shellac over the entire back after the repair has been made will go far toward preventing future deterioration of the silvering.

People who like mirrors will find that this system enables them to put back in service old looking glasses which have been taken down or discarded because of bad spots in them.

While the back is off the mirror, it is a good idea to thoroughly dust out and clean the inside of the frame, as dust accumulation often works up and clouds a mirror around the edge.

A further aid is to paste a sheet of paper over the entire back, including the back of the frame, as it prevents moisture or dust from gathering and discoloring the silvering.

Corpse May Be Rights Trio Clue

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—An autopsy at the University Medical Center on the lower half of a body may yield a clue today in the case of three missing civil rights workers.

A fisherman found the decomposed lower torso, its feet bound with rope, Sunday in Old River where it cuts away from the Mississippi about 15 miles south of Tallulah, La.

Tallulah is 125 miles southwest of Philadelphia, Miss., where three civil rights workers disappeared June 21 shortly after their release from jail on a speeding violation.

The condition of the body made it impossible to tell the sex or race.

To make a true Club Sandwich, use a filling of sliced cooked chicken white meat, crisply cooked bacon, lettuce and mayonnaise. The bread for the sandwich should be white and toasted.

Officers, appraisers and inspectors of home mortgage lending institutions have found it increasingly difficult to keep track of the latest in house design features, new materials and labor and cost savings construction techniques.

Since it is their job to decide how much money can be advanced for how long on what kind of residential property, they have been hard pressed to make accurate assessments of long - term values.

If they fail to recognize new concepts in the housing field and insist that builders stick to traditional construction methods, an improved housing standard of living will come slowly.

The United States Savings and Loan League has taken a giant step forward in an effort to keep American mortgage lending officials up to date on what's what in housing construction.

It has been distributed the first part of a construction lending guide to more than 5,000 savings and loan associations throughout the country. The initial sections of the guide deal with land planning, and design, as well as a substantial amount of wordage on home construction.

Later, the associations will receive the rest of the construction material and data on appraising and construction loan procedures.

By distributing the information in a huge loose - leaf binder, additions and revisions can easily be made over the years as new materials and techniques evolve.

Among those who have worked on compilation of the facts in the guide are James T. Lendrum, head of the department of architecture at the University of Florida; Walter H. Lewis, associate professor of architecture at the University of Illinois; architect John L. Schmidt, former consultant at the University of Illinois Small Homes Council; and a committee of savings and loan officers headed by James H. Snellings of Orlando, Fla.

We talked with Norman Strunk, executive vice president of the United States Savings and Loan League, about the new guide and asked him what kind of reception it had received. He replied:

"It's something we had conceived and worked on since late in 1959 and naturally we were optimistic about its reception, since we saw a definite need for it. But no matter how much you talk about something, people have to see it to make a proper judgment. Ever since we sent out the first part of the guide, we have been deluged with congratulatory messages, including two from Joseph P. McMurray, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, and Phillip N. Brownstein, commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration. All of us feel that it has been worthwhile."

Sen. Neuberger Gets Husband, Keeps Name

WASHINGTON (AP)—She is still Sen. Maurine B. Neuberger, D-Ore., even though she is now Mrs. Philip Solomon. Sen. Neuberger, 57, and Dr. Solomon, 50, a Boston psychiatrist, were married Saturday night at the Washington home of David L. Bazelon, chief judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals.

An aide said Sen. Neuberger would continue using that name for official business. She announced that she plans to seek re-election when her present term expires. She succeeded her husband, the late Richard L. Neuberger, in the Senate seat.

Steel Shows Competition

CLEVELAND (AP)—Competition in the steel industry is sharper than it has been since the 1958 recession, Steel Magazine reported today.

"That's hard to believe in a year when steel consumption is breaking records and raw steel output promises to surpass that of record 1955, but it's a fact," the weekly trade publication reported.

"They've cut prices selectively . . . and geographically (by eliminating regional premiums)," Steel said, "but they're holding the price line generally.

"They've always treated their automotive accounts well, but the attention they're giving auto makers and most other customers today makes past treatment seem casual."

Delivery in Detroit is "almost instantaneous," Steel said. Delivery on hot rolled sheets takes four days, with 10 days for cold rolled.

"Steelmakers who want to sell in Detroit, Chicago and other steel consuming centers may soon be on the outside looking in if they're not prepared to serve those markets from nearby plants," Steel observed.

In respect to quality, "new and improved mills are providing sheets and plates that are flatter, smoother, and more uniform than any that have been offered previously."

Ingot production this week was forecast at about the same level as last week, when Steel estimated the industry poured 2,288,000 tons.

Woman Kills Husband In Cincinnati Chase

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pinkey Ray, 48, was shot and killed by his wife, Lena, Sunday night following an argument, police said.

Police said neighbors reported Mrs. Ray, 34, was chasing her husband through the yard and shot him in the chest with a revolver when he stumbled and fell. Mrs. Ray was admitted to a hospital with a bullet wound in her right leg, which police believe was self-inflicted.

Those With Experience Are Smart Home Buyers

Most real estate people agree that the smartest home buyers are those who have purchased homes before. They are the ones who really know what to look for.

The Plumbing - Heating-Cooling Information Bureau of Chicago reports that this wisdom often comes more from what their previous homes didn't have than from what they had. Dissatisfaction is an able teacher.

It has been found, for instance, that almost all repeat buyers insist on at least two bathrooms. In most cases, this demand stems from former homes that had "overdemand" for "underfacilities". Anyone who has endured this situation for any period of time will naturally think twice before repeating the mistake.

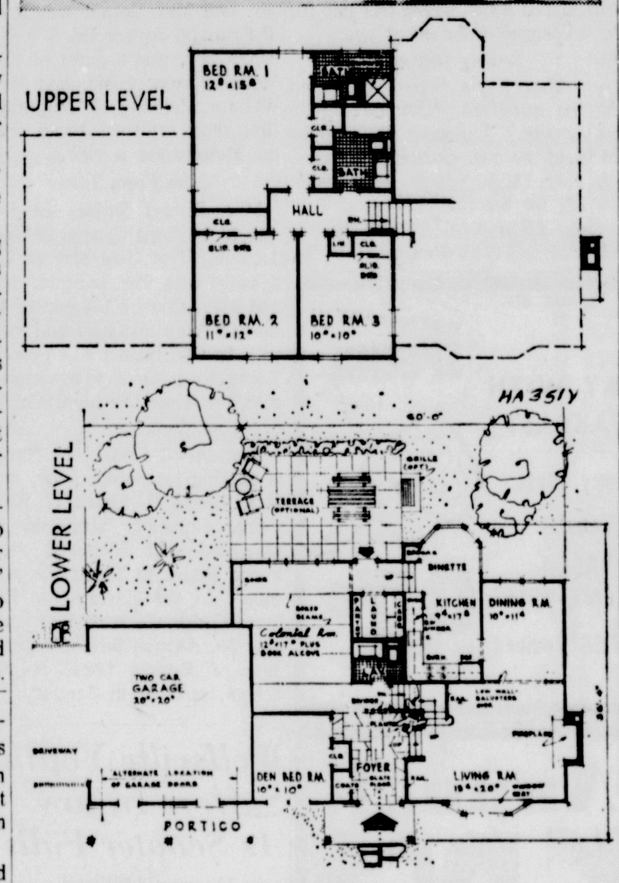

Another "never again" item that many home owners steer away from is the small, inadequate kitchen sink. Most homemakers now prefer the double-bowl variety, equipped with food waste disposer. Dishwashing is a much simpler chore with this arrangement, since dishes can be scraped, washed and rinsed in one simple procedure, saving both time and work.

Wise home builders have recognized these demands and now build homes with bathroom and kitchen facilities to match. For maximum convenience, in fact, some even provide a bath for every bedroom and two separate kitchen sink installations.

Though inadequate plumbing is often the cause that leads families to search for new quarters, it isn't always necessary to move in order to get satisfaction. The Bureau advises that more and more home owners today get the kind of bathrooms and kitchens they want simply by remodeling their present homes.

In either case, whether buying or staying put, there is no longer any need to suffer "plumbing deficiency anemia." Take a tip from those who know — provide your home with plenty of facilities and you'll get plenty of satisfaction.

Three steps above this level is the living room level. A four-foot fireplace and bay windows are highlights of the living room. Kitchen has bay-windowed dinette for plenty of light at informal meals. Bedrooms are upstairs. Three exterior materials are carefully blended—wood shakes, boards and battens are brick—by architect Herman York, 90-04 161 St., Jamaica, N. Y. 11432. Eagle Feathers Slated For Indian Tribe Use

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government let it be known today it is sending 1,000 eagle feathers to the Indian tribes of the Southwest.

Eagle feathers are highly important to ceremonial costumes of several Southwest Indian tribes, the Interior Department said, but the feathers have been hard to get.

Federal laws safeguard eagles, their feathers, nests and eggs. Nobody may possess them unless he has a permit from the secretary of the interior or acquired them before protective laws were passed.

Interior's Fish and Wildlife Service has salvaged the feathers from some 20 eagles found dead in different parts of the country, primarily in North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Missouri.

The larger undamaged wing and tail feathers are being sent to the Wildlife Service's regional office in Albuquerque, N.M., for distribution among the tribes.

Foil And Shellac Used For Repairing Mirror

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

The actual resilvering of a mirror is a job for a professional who has the skill and the equipment for handling metallic mercury, but a very excellent substitute for the professional job is suggested here.

To do this work properly, the back of the looking glass is removed and the glass set face down on a table.

The parts of the back which have been scratched or otherwise damaged so that the silvering is gone are cleaned very carefully with cotton. When the glass is clean, a piece of ordinary tin foil is laid over the damaged area, overlapping the edges of the defective spot. The foil must be clean and well rolled or ironed out so that there are no folds or creases in it.

The next step is to apply a coat of white shellac and allow it to dry thoroughly. This should take a half hour. After this a second and then a third coat are applied with plenty of drying time entirely up to the costly job of actual resilvering, it will hide the bad spots to an astonishing degree.

A coat of shellac over the entire back after the repair has been made will go far toward preventing future deterioration of the silvering.

People who like mirrors will find that this system enables them to put back in service old looking glasses which have been taken down or discarded because of bad spots in them.

While the back is off the mirror, it is a good idea to thoroughly dust out and clean the inside of the frame, as dust accumulation often works up and clouds a mirror around the edge.

A further aid is to paste a sheet of paper over the entire back, including the back of the frame, as it prevents moisture or dust from gathering and discoloring the silvering.

Corpse May Be Rights Trio Clue

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—An autopsy at the University Medical Center on the lower half of a body may yield a clue today in the case of three missing civil rights workers.

A fisherman found the decomposed lower torso, its feet bound with rope, Sunday in Old River where it cuts away from the Mississippi about 15 miles south of Tallulah, La.

Tallulah is 125 miles southwest of Philadelphia, Miss., where three civil rights workers disappeared June 21 shortly after their release from jail on a speeding violation.

The condition of the body made it impossible to tell the sex or race.

To make a true Club Sandwich, use a filling of sliced cooked chicken white meat, crisply cooked bacon, lettuce and mayonnaise. The bread for the sandwich should be white and toasted.

Private Garden

A Spot For Outdoor Living

PORTLAND, Ore. — A tiny side yard can be a pain in the neck to some people. To others who have enough imagination to develop it, the small side yard is a bonanza.

Here can be established an intimate, private garden designed to give meaning to family living outdoors. It can be a real retreat, blending the serenity of the open sky with the seclusion of the house and the warmth of sunlight with dancing, changing shadows.

The garden wall is easy to build — and the simpler the pattern, the better. Here is a situation in which the classic board fence would do well, particularly if it is built of textured resawn cedar which has been allowed to weather until it maintains the mellow coloring of old pewter.

The usual fence frame using 4-by-4 posts and 2-by-4 horizontal rails may be used, exposing the framework to the garden on at least one section of the wall for visual interest. The fence boards can be 1-by-4s spaced a half or quarter inch apart and applied vertically to the frame. A 2-by-6-inch cap board gives the finishing touch.

The bed should be arranged against the fence so that plant materials are set off to best advantage. If the bed is zigzagged around two sides of the area making variations in depth, it will have a natural, unplanned look. Plant materials should consist of low, spreading greens and clumps of ferns, with one or two tall pieces, a flowering plum or Japanese maple.

Adding rock to the bed helps keep it natural looking. A few large craggy rocks would be welcome, as well as some smooth river rock.

A low backless garden bench could be brought into play to enhance the garden. It could be built in slat style, using slightly spaced Douglas fir 2-by-4s around a corner of the planting bed.

The rest of the sun and shade patio then can be filled in with wood decking or with paving if the ground is level and the area is shaded most of the day.

A lounge chair, snack table and a basket chair or two stationed here during the summer months will get plenty of use from every member of the family.

Dry Wells Will Guard Lawns From Erosion

Virtually all the new houses springing up over the country are fitted with gutters and leaders, frequently referred to as eaves-trough and downspouts.

The purpose of these items of equipment is to prevent heavy rain from cascading down the face of the house walls by taking it at the edges of the roof and leading it down to the ground for proper disposal.

This is usually accomplished properly, but may have a further effect. During a heavy rain, the opening at the bottom of the leader or down-spout gushes water in a powerful stream and new lawns are often gouged by the onrush. Splash mats beneath the gutter are effective as long as the lawn is well established and rooted, but where it is not, deep erosion takes place.

One of the best ways to prevent this damage is to build dry wells beneath the spout. Probably the easiest way to accomplish this is to take an old barrel and to knock out both ends. Place this in a hole and then fill with broken stone or gravel. The result is that the water will be disposed of through the ground in a proper manner and injury to the new lawn will be averted.

Dry wells of this type have a life of three or four years. After that they become clogged with silt and their effectiveness is reduced to a great extent, but during the time they are working, the lawn has a chance to stabilize.

When this point is reached, a few inches of the stone can be taken out and soil dumped in and raked off smooth. A splash mat can then be installed. There is no necessity for digging out the barrel or going to any great amount of trouble.

Leaky Fireplace Can Be Corrected Can Be Repaired

Question: We have a brick fireplace in our home, which was built in 1929. We haven't used the fireplace very much, perhaps as few as 10 times. Recently, there is a leaking of water in the fireplace every time it rains. My husband says the fireplace has to be used often to prevent such leakage. What is your opinion?

Answer: The fireplace should not leak whether you use it often or not at all. It seems likely that the mortar between some of the bricks on the outside of the chimney has become loose and that water is entering through the openings.

Another possibility is that the flashing at the junction with the roof has become dislodged and needs to be set back in place and covered with a generous layer of roofing cement. To remortar the joints, remove all loose mortar with a cold chisel or wire brush. Don't disturb any mortar that is solidly in place. Thoroughly wet down all areas that are to be patched.

You can buy ready - mixed mortar that requires only the addition of water. Apply it to the joints with a trowel. The patched sections should be wet down occasionally for several days if there is no rain during that period. This will prevent the mortar from drying out too quickly.

Your chimney should have a cap of stone or concrete, with the flue lining extending through the cap and projecting above it. This sheds water and thereby preserves the masonry below. If your chimney has one, be sure it is still in good condition. If it does not have one, you should have one installed.

Mercury Takes Dive Following Steady Rain

Steady rain Sunday sent the temperature plunging into an autumn-like range in the mid-60's and low 70's, but warmer weather is due again Tuesday, the Ohio forecaster said.

Today's high will hit between 65 and 72 — the same damp, chilly range in which the mercury hung yesterday.

It will be partly cloudy and cooler tonight, with a low of 53-56. But Tuesday will be fair and warmer. The mercury hit 61 at 5 this morning in downtown East Liverpool.

The purpose of these items of equipment is to prevent heavy rain from cascading down the face of the house walls by taking it at the edges of the roof and leading it down to the ground for proper disposal.

This is usually accomplished properly, but may have a further effect. During a heavy rain, the opening at the bottom of the leader or down-spout gushes water in a powerful stream and new lawns are often gouged by the onrush. Splash mats beneath the gutter are effective as long as the lawn is well established and rooted, but where it is not, deep erosion takes place.

One of the best ways to prevent this damage is to build dry wells beneath the spout. Probably the easiest way to accomplish this is to take an old barrel and to knock out both ends. Place this in a hole and then fill with broken stone or gravel. The result is that the water will be disposed of through the ground in a proper manner and injury to the new lawn will be averted.

Dry wells of this type have a life of three or four years. After that they become clogged with silt and their effectiveness is reduced to a great extent, but during the time they are working, the lawn has a chance to stabilize.

When this point is reached, a few inches of the stone can be taken out and soil dumped in and raked off smooth. A splash mat can then be installed. There is no necessity for digging out the barrel or going to any great amount of trouble.

Leaky Fireplace Can Be Corrected Can Be Repaired

Question: We have a brick fireplace in our home, which was built in 1929. We haven't used the fireplace very much, perhaps as few as 10 times. Recently, there is a leaking of water in the fireplace every time it rains. My husband says the fireplace has to be used often to prevent such leakage. What is your opinion?

Answer: The fireplace should not leak whether you use it often or not at all. It seems likely that the mortar between some of the bricks on the outside of the chimney has become loose and that water is entering through the openings.

Another possibility is that the flashing at the junction with the roof has become dislodged and needs to be set back in place and covered with a generous layer of roofing cement. To remortar the joints, remove all loose mortar with a cold chisel or wire brush. Don't disturb any mortar that is solidly in place. Thoroughly wet down all areas that are to be patched.

You can buy ready - mixed mortar that requires only the addition of water. Apply it to the joints with a trowel. The patched sections should be wet down occasionally for several days if there is no rain during that period. This will prevent the mortar from drying out too quickly.

Your chimney should have a cap of stone or concrete, with the flue lining extending through the cap and projecting above it. This sheds water and thereby preserves the masonry below. If your chimney has one, be sure it is still in good condition. If it does not have one, you should have one installed.

Mercury Takes Dive Following Steady Rain

Steady rain Sunday sent the temperature plunging into an autumn-like range in the mid-60's and low 70's, but warmer weather is due again Tuesday, the Ohio forecaster said.

Today's high will hit between 65 and 72 — the same damp, chilly range in which the mercury hung yesterday.

It will be partly cloudy and cooler tonight, with a low of 53-56. But Tuesday will be fair and warmer. The mercury hit 61 at 5 this morning in downtown East Liverpool.

ROCKLAND, Maine (AP) — Craig Elliot and his son, Craig Jr., celebrated their birthdays last Saturday—while Mrs. Elliot was at Knox County General Hospital giving birth to twins.

Key West derives its name from the Spanish "cayo" (key) and "hueso" (bones) not from its geographic location. Key West was once a battleground for prehistoric Indians whose bones were found scattered around the island.

Sterilization Program Aids Needy Families In Kentucky

BEREA, Ky. (AP)—"Times is hard. We just can't take care of any more children," the gaunt woman said as she signed for a sterilization operation.

"My folks had 10 of us young 'uns and didn't send a nary one of us to school a bit. I want to school my children as best I can and I think I got all I can handle."

At 29, the woman is the mother of four. She had to make her mark on the application. She can't write. Her husband, a tenant farmer, earned about $700 last year.

"These are the sort of people we want to help," said O. L. Keener, volunteer contact man for a committee that is sponsoring a six-month program of voluntary sterilization for needy parents.

The program is administered by the Human Betterment Association for Voluntary Sterilization of New York. It is financed by a $25,000 gift from Jesse Hartman, a New York businessman.

Dr. Louise Hutchings, president of the Mountain Maternal Health League, is chairman of the Berea committee. Her group has been advocating birth control, including sterilization, for 28 years.

"I went to see a doctor about three years ago," another mountain woman recounted. "I was pregnant with my 10th child and my legs swelled up so much the doctor said he didn't know how I could stand.

"The doctor told me about the operation. I wanted it."

The association paid for the operation, which costs about $280 for women.

This woman and another, who underwent the operation 10 days ago, had the operations at the same time as childbirth. Their hospital stay was only a day or two longer than normal.

The committee sponsoring the program here would prefer that men underwent sterilization rather than their wives, but it often is difficult to convince a man to allow it, they say. Male operation costs about one-seventh as much, is much simpler and does not require hospitalization.

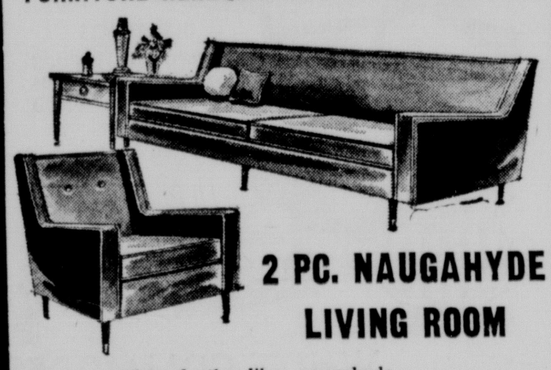

But many men feel that sterilization would be a stigma. Some fear loss of work time—even a few hours.

Keener said his group believes sterilization is one answer to the poverty that grips the mountain country of Appalachia.

So far, six couples have applied for the operations. They have a total of 53 children and four of them, with 35 children, have a total income of $4,000 a year.

"It (sterilization) is the only answer for some of these people," Keener said.

Inmates' Graduation

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — Seventeen youthful inmates of the Federal Correctional Institution at nearby Summit are the first to receive the equivalent of a high school education in this detention center. The center has had an educational program for some time but this is the first year that Kentucky has recognized the program by granting diplomas.

Platform

The platform, completed Sunday after protracted argumentative night-and-day committee sessions, differs from the 1960 document in several respects — with the Goldwater influence notable.

The Goldwater view on medical care of the aged through federal-state arrangements was adopted and the 1960 document's proposals for modest federal aid in building elementary and secondary schools were dropped. Some switching of taxes from federal to state treasuries was proposed as a substitute for various federal aid programs.

The platform writers jumped into a seething controversy by calling for an amendment to affirm the right of voluntary religious exercises in public places.

The platform proposed recognition of a Cuban government in exile, rejected "the notion that the United States should take sides" in the quarrel between the Soviet Union and China and said trade with Communist countries could be justified only if "it would serve to diminish their power."

It praised the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and called for halting what it termed deterioration of that alliance, demanded reforms in the United Nations, promised to "move decisively to assure victory in South Viet Nam and demanded demolition of the Berlin wall as a prerequisite for negotiations with the Soviet Union on Germany.

The party document promised to "end second-best weapons policies" and "false economies which place price ahead of the performance on which American lives may depend." It called for letting Communists know the United States recognizes no "privileged sanctuaries"—a term used, especially in connection with the struggle in Southeast Asia, for Communist territory employed as a base for subversive attacks within Western-allied nations.

The platform also recommended:

—Amending the Constitution to modify a recent Supreme Court decision and allow states to allot seats in one chamber of their legislatures on a basis other than population.

—Cut spending at least $5 billion.

—Keep government out of labor disputes as much as possible and reorganize the National Labor Relations Board.

In an "indictment" section, the platform accused the Democratic administration of "weakness before communism," impeding investigations "which might implicate public officials in the highest offices," having "exploited interracial tensions by extravagent campaign promises" and practicing federal extremism at the expense of individual freedom and creative enterprise.

Scranton has charged that Goldwater's strategists were treating delegates as "a flock of chickens whose necks will be wrung at will."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower scheduled an afternoon news conference. But Scranton apparently could hope for no reinforcements from that quarter. Arriving by train, the general said that neither publicly or privately would he express a preference for the presidential candidate.

Appearing as a television commentator for ABC, Eisenhower said he may have made a mistake in announcing 14 months ago that he was not going to express such a preference.

In obvious reference to previous remarks indicating he thinks Goldwater will head the ticket, Eisenhower added:

"And if we have made a mistake or any of us think we have made a mistake in the particular nominee we have set up to lead us during the next campaign, we have got to live with that mistake and we will be true to our party."

The delegate news for Scranton also was relatively bad.

His one bright spot came on a poll of the New Jersey delegation which decided to cast 22 votes for the Pennsylvania governor and 12 for Goldwater, with 6 withholding a decision.

Goldwater Denounced During Rights Rally

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater was denounced as a totally unacceptable Republican presidential candidate by speakers at a massive civil rights rally Sunday.

The demonstrators, both Negro and white, were estimated by police to number around 35,000. They moved slowly, 15 abreast, up Market Street to the Civic Center Plaza where they were addressed by Negro civil rights leaders including James Farmer, national head of the Congress of Racial Equality and William Chester, chairman of the San Francisco Negro Labor Assembly.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Henry Cabot Lodge, and New York Sens. Jacob Javits and Kenneth Keating also addressed the marchers. They did not mention Goldwater by name.

gates favor Goldwater, it is doubtful they would agree to such a move.

Former Rep. Francis J. Love of Wheeling, who also is publicly uncommitted to any candidate, indicated in a statement Sunday night that he would probably back Scranton.

Love said a four - day personal check he made of voters in the first congressional district just before leaving "indicates that a probable majority of rank and file Republicans favor Scranton or others over Sen. Goldwater."

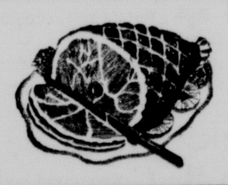

"Goldwater supporters are very enthusiastic, but other Republicans are confused and indicate opposition to a closed convention," he added. "They do not want the party of Linclon narrowed to an opposition party.

"There is room in the Republican Party for a sound, positive and tactful leader," he said.

The life expectancy in the United States today is about 70.2 years.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater was denounced as a totally unacceptable Republican presidential candidate by speakers at a massive civil rights rally Sunday.

The demonstrators, both Negro and white, were estimated by police to number around 35,000. They moved slowly, 15 abreast, up Market Street to the Civic Center Plaza where they were addressed by Negro civil rights leaders including James Farmer, national head of the Congress of Racial Equality and William Chester, chairman of the San Francisco Negro Labor Assembly.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Henry Cabot Lodge, and New York Sens. Jacob Javits and Kenneth Keating also addressed the marchers. They did not mention Goldwater by name.

gates favor Goldwater, it is doubtful they would agree to such a move.

Former Rep. Francis J. Love of Wheeling, who also is publicly uncommitted to any candidate, indicated in a statement Sunday night that he would probably back Scranton.

Love said a four - day personal check he made of voters in the first congressional district just before leaving "indicates that a probable majority of rank and file Republicans favor Scranton or others over Sen. Goldwater."

"Goldwater supporters are very enthusiastic, but other Republicans are confused and indicate opposition to a closed convention," he added. "They do not want the party of Linclon narrowed to an opposition party.

"There is room in the Republican Party for a sound, positive and tactful leader," he said.

Aparicio Leads Baltimore In Split With Detroit

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fleet Luis Aparicio, the major leagues' biggest thief, has branched out. He's now committing crimes in more ways than ever before.

Aparicio did just about everything but grab the ball and run away with it Sunday as the American League leading Baltimore Orioles split a doubleheader with Detroit. The Orioles won the opener 4-2, then dropped the nightcap 4-3 in 10 innings.

The sizzling shortstop rapped five hits, scored four runs and stole two bases in the games. The thefts gave him a leading total of 33 but more important put him back into the base stealing racket. They were his first since he stole three times June 14. In the meantime, he missed about two weeks with a pulled a groin muscle.

Aparicio, who has led the league in stolen bases for eight straight seasons, is a cinch to top last year's total of 40 and should eclipse his top mark of 56 recorded in 1959.

The first hit for the 30-year-old Venezuelan in the doubleheader was a double in the fifth. He scored the Orioles' first run on Sam Bowens' single.

With Baltimore trailing 2-1, Aparicio opened the eighth with a single, stole second and third, then scored the tying run on an infield out. Brooks Robinson hit a winning two-run homer minutes later.

In other AL games, Chicago swept Kansas City 3-1 and 11-4, Los Angeles took Minnesota 2-1 and 3-2 in 10 innings, Washington trounced Boston 10-3 after losing 5-3 and New York battled Cleveland to a 2-2 tie in a game called in the seventh because of rain.

The Tigers won the second game despite Aparicio. A walk, a single by Don Wert and a passed ball set the stage for Mike Roarke's winning two-run single over a drawn - in infield in the bottom of the 10th.

Stu Miller, Baltimore's ace reliever, suffered his third setback in seven decisions. The loss was only the Orioles' third in 24 one-run games.

Pete Ward hit two homers and drove in six runs in Chicago's double victory. His homer in the nightcap was a grand slam, his third of the season. The hit climaxed a seven - run rally in the eighth inning that broke a 4-4 deadlock.

Dave Nicholson and Ward homered in the opener as John Buzhardt pitched a five-hitter. Nicholson was hit in the head by a Moe Drabowsky pitch in the second game but was not injured seriously.

The Angels' Bob Rodgers had his 18-game hitting streak stopped in the opener but singled home the winning run in the 10th inning of the nightcap. Shortstop Zoilo Versalles helped set up the run with a two-base throwing error on Willie Smith's grounder.

Fred Newman stopped the Twins on four hits in the first game. Jim Piersall doubled across the winning run in the ninth, handing Dick Stigman a tough loss. Stigman retired the first 15 men he faced and allowed only three hits.

The Senators' defeat in the opener was their eighth straight, equaling the longest losing streak in the majors this season. The Red Sox won it in the seventh on Russ Nixon's sacrifice fly and Felix Mantilla's two-run homer.

Jim King's three - run homer in the second helped launch Washington to the second-game victory. The Senators added three in the sixth on Ed Bressoud's two-run error and a single by winner Al Koch.

Mets Double Up On Reds

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves are moving—but in a northerly direction.

Rumored to be headed to Atlanta and subjected to some caustic comments about their talents, the Braves ignored the former and answered the latter Sunday by continuing their sudden climb up the National League standings into fifth place.

The Braves, bogged down in ninth place two weeks ago, made it 11 victories in their last 15 games by sweeping a doubleheader from Philadelphia 4-3 and 6-2, knocking the Phillies into second place behind San Francisco.

The Braves' latest outburst came just two days after the Milwaukee County board chairman, Eugene Grobschmidt, fired a verbal broadside at the players.

The slugging outfielder collected four hits against the Phillies—including No. 2,000 of his career—and extended his hitting string to 16 games. During that stretch, Aaron has driven in 17 runs while hitting at a .394 clip and lifting his average to .312—sixth best in the league.

The Phillies, meanwhile, lost their fourth straight and again changed places with San Francisco in the tight pennant struggle.

The Giants moved one game out front despite losing to Houston 5-4 in a weird game in which San Francisco reliever Billy O'Dell was ejected before throwing a pitch and Gaylord Perry took over, then proceeded to change his shoes while sitting on the pitchers' mound.

Elsewhere, the New York Mets swept a doubleheader for the first time in more than a year by beating Cincinnati 1-0 and 5-1 while the Chicago Cubs downed Los Angeles 6-3 before the Dodgers won the nightcap 6-2 with a six-run ninth inning.

The St. Louis at Pittsburgh doubleheader was rained out.

The Braves jumped on Chris Short in the opener for all their runs in the fourth inning.

Aaron doubled and scored the Braves' first run in the nightcap and drove in the second with a single, his 2,000th hit.

At Houston, O'Dell was called in for a relief role in the seventh inning, but was tossed out before he even threw one pitch because of a disagreement with Umpire Lee Weyer. Perry then got a hurry-up call, trudged in and sat down to change his shoes.

Perry ultimately was touched for a run-producing single by Nellie Fox that tied the score 4-4 and lost it in the ninth when Eddie Kasko, Dave Roberts and Fox stroked singles for the winning run.

Galen Cisco of the Mets won a battle of six-hitters with the Reds' Joey Jay in the opener when New York scored the game's only run in the ninth inning on consecutive doubles by George Altman and Joe Christopher.

The Mets wrapped up their first doubleheader sweep since June 23, 1963, as Ron Hunt collected three hits, including a homer, and drove in three runs in the nightcap. Frank Lary got the victory, his first as a National Leaguer.

Ernie Broglio, looking for his first victory as a Cub, had a four-hit shutout going into the nightcap ninth when the Dodgers struck. Tommy Davis' bases loaded single tied the game and Ron Fairly scored the lead run on Frank Howard's infield out.

CARL YASTRZEMSKI of the Red Sox executes a perfect slide into home in the sixth inning of the first game at Washington Sunday. It was in vain however, for the side had already been retired on a double play. The Washington catcher is Mike Brumley. (UPI Telephoto)

Hocking 1st In Golf Event At Local Club

Saturday's selective nine hole match went to W. J. Hocking Jr. who scored 28 in the event over the East Liverpool Country Club.

Bob Bowersock, Dr. R. J. Kinsey and Don E. Smith recorded 29 each to tie for second while Dr. J. J. Laneve showed 30 and Bob Patterson and E. B. Rohrer had 31 each.

Okey Ludwig's 30 won the second division.

Qualifying for the men's Club Championship ends July 19 while the Ladies will begin qualifying for the Club Championship July 15 through July 29.

A twilight mixed foursome will be held Friday night featured by a best ball of two. Dinner will follow and players are requested to sign up for this event.

Barber Nips Venturi For Biggest Win

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) —The pro golfing tourists shake the arithmetic out of their brains and move into Columbus today for the PGA Championship but they'll leave behind their latest tournament winner, Miller Barber.

The paunchy, 32-year-old Texarkansas, Ark., pro, who beat out National Open champion Ken Venturi for the $5,000 first prize in the Wykagyl Round Robin, isn't eligible for the pros' private tee party, starting Thursday.

He is two weeks shy in completing the five-year apprenticeship.

The bespectacled former assistant pro, on the tour less than two years, staged a rally to over take the front - running Venturi in the 90-hole, four-day mathematical monstrosity played over the Wykagyl Country Club course.

In this unique event, every player opposes each of the others in the field on a head-to-head, match play basis over a period of four days. Points are awarded for holes won and subtracted for holes lost.

Indiana Bowler Tops In Peterson Classic

CHICAGO (AP)—Bob Thiel, a 32-year-old public utility serviceman from Hobart, Ind., captured the top prize of $30,000 Sunday in the Petersen Bowling Classic.

The seven-month tournament ended when the last two squads of bowlers failed to overcome the score of 1,684 posted by Thiel last Feb. 8.

A record breaking field of 15,872 keglers took part in the classic and Thiel's score was assaulted by 12,800 bowlers after he had put together games of 202, 200, 239, 215, 196, 222 and 210.

Cleveland Insurance Man Wins Ohio Amateur

By HAROLD HARRISON

Those words were repeated over and over again Sunday as Carl Unis, 26-year-old Cleveland insurance man, trudged back to the clubhouse over Maketewah Country Club's soggy course. He had just become the first public links player ever to win the Ohio Amateur Golf Championship.

Unis' mother, Mrs. Michael Haddad, saw him play for the first time as he scored a 4 and 3 final match victory over Bill Anderson, a municipal judge in Wyoming, a Cincinnati suburb.

He never was behind after that. He dropped back to even at the 20th hole on a birdie by Anderson but regained a one-hole margin on the 21st with a birdie.

Twice after that Anderson cut his deficit to one hole but Unis came right back to win the next hole. Carl closed it out with a 20-foot putt for a birdie 4 on the 485-yard 32nd hole.

Unis, of Lebanese descent, disclosed that he never has had a paid lesson from a professional. He started out as a caddy when he was 12 years old and his mother said, "A golf course has been his second home."

"I hav ejust learned by trial and error," he said. "I learned the game by being in trouble on shots so I don't fear that."

This was Unis' third start in a state amateur. He lost here in 1959 in an early round and was beaten in the semifinals last year. His next aim is the National Amateur to be played in Cleveland later this summer.

Beach Eyes Defense Spot With Browns

"We think Walter is a fine prospect," Collier said Sunday in discussing some of the 27 players who reported for the opening of rookie camp.

"He has run the 100 in 9.5 and weighs about 195 pounds. He has the physical equipment it takes to handle the position."

Beach, who was on the active list part of last season, starred in football and track at Central Michigan College. He is 29 and was signed as a free agent in 1963.

Collier also is optimistic about the future of Billy Truax, the Browns' second draft choice from Louisiana State. The rookie end is 6-foot-5 and weighs 242.

"We feel Truax has potential at linebacker, defensive end and as a slot end," said Collier. "We believe he has the ability to be a starter at some position."

Paul Warfield, first draft choice from Ohio State, and Tom Hutchinson of Kentucky are expected to battle it out for the offensive end post vacated by Rich Kreitling. Kreitling was traded recently to the Chicago Bears.

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fleet Luis Aparicio, the major leagues' biggest thief, has branched out. He's now committing crimes in more ways than ever before.

Aparicio did just about everything but grab the ball and run away with it Sunday as the American League leading Baltimore Orioles split a doubleheader with Detroit. The Orioles won the opener 4-2, then dropped the nightcap 4-3 in 10 innings.

The thefts gave him a leading total of 33 but more important put him back into the base stealing racket. They were his first since he stole three times June 14. In the meantime, he missed about two weeks with a pulled a groin muscle.

Aparicio, who has led the league in stolen bases for eight straight seasons, is a cinch to top last year's total of 40 and should eclipse his top mark of 56 recorded in 1959.

The first hit for the 30-year-old Venezuelan in the doubleheader was a double in the fifth. He scored the Orioles' first run on Sam Bowens' single.

With Baltimore trailing 2-1, Aparicio opened the eighth with a single, stole second and third, then scored the tying run on an infield out. Brooks Robinson hit a winning two-run homer minutes later.

In other AL games, Chicago swept Kansas City 3-1 and 11-4, Los Angeles took Minnesota 2-1 and 3-2 in 10 innings, Washington trounced Boston 10-3 after losing 5-3 and New York battled Cleveland to a 2-2 tie in a game called in the seventh because of rain.

The Tigers won the second game despite Aparicio. A walk, a single by Don Wert and a passed ball set the stage for Mike Roarke's winning two-run single over a drawn - in infield in the bottom of the 10th.

Stu Miller, Baltimore's ace reliever, suffered his third setback in seven decisions. The loss was only the Orioles' third in 24 one-run games.

Pete Ward hit two homers and drove in six runs in Chicago's double victory. His homer in the nightcap was a grand slam, his third of the season. The hit climaxed a seven - run rally in the eighth inning that broke a 4-4 deadlock.

Dave Nicholson and Ward homered in the opener as John Buzhardt pitched a five-hitter. Nicholson was hit in the head by a Moe Drabowsky pitch in the second game but was not injured seriously.

The Angels' Bob Rodgers had his 18-game hitting streak stopped in the opener but singled home the winning run in the 10th inning of the nightcap. Shortstop Zoilo Versalles helped set up the run with a two-base throwing error on Willie Smith's grounder.

Fred Newman stopped the Twins on four hits in the first game. Jim Piersall doubled across the winning run in the ninth, handing Dick Stigman a tough loss. Stigman retired the first 15 men he faced and allowed only three hits.

The Senators' defeat in the opener was their eighth straight, equaling the longest losing streak in the majors this season. The Red Sox won it in the seventh on Russ Nixon's sacrifice fly and Felix Mantilla's two-run homer.

Jim King's three - run homer in the second helped launch Washington to the second-game victory. The Senators added three in the sixth on Ed Bressoud's two-run error and a single by winner Al Koch.

CARL YASTRZEMSKI of the Red Sox executes a perfect slide into home in the sixth inning of the first game at Washington Sunday. It was in vain however, for the side had already been retired on a double play. The Washington catcher is Mike Brumley. (UPI Telephoto)

Mets Double Up On Reds

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rumored to be headed to Atlanta and subjected to some caustic comments about their talents, the Braves ignored the former and answered the latter Sunday by continuing their sudden climb up the National League standings into fifth place.

The Braves, bogged down in ninth place two weeks ago, made it 11 victories in their last 15 games by sweeping a doubleheader from Philadelphia 4-3 and 6-2, knocking the Phillies into second place behind San Francisco.

The Braves' latest outburst came just two days after the Milwaukee County board chairman, Eugene Grobschmidt, fired a verbal broadside at the players.

The slugging outfielder collected four hits against the Phillies—including No. 2,000 of his career—and extended his hitting string to 16 games. During that stretch, Aaron has driven in 17 runs while hitting at a .394 clip and lifting his average to .312—sixth best in the league.

The Phillies, meanwhile, lost their fourth straight and again changed places with San Francisco in the tight pennant struggle.

The Giants moved one game out front despite losing to Houston 5-4 in a weird game in which San Francisco reliever Billy O'Dell was ejected before throwing a pitch and Gaylord Perry took over, then proceeded to change his shoes while sitting on the pitchers' mound.

Elsewhere, the New York Mets swept a doubleheader for the first time in more than a year by beating Cincinnati 1-0 and 5-1 while the Chicago Cubs downed Los Angeles 6-3 before the Dodgers won the nightcap 6-2 with a six-run ninth inning.

The St. Louis at Pittsburgh doubleheader was rained out.

The Braves jumped on Chris Short in the opener for all their runs in the fourth inning.

Aaron doubled and scored the Braves' first run in the nightcap and drove in the second with a single, his 2,000th hit.

At Houston, O'Dell was called in for a relief role in the seventh inning, but was tossed out before he even threw one pitch because of a disagreement with Umpire Lee Weyer. Perry then got a hurry-up call, trudged in and sat down to change his shoes.

Perry ultimately was touched for a run-producing single by Nellie Fox that tied the score 4-4 and lost it in the ninth when Eddie Kasko, Dave Roberts and Fox stroked singles for the winning run.

Galen Cisco of the Mets won a battle of six-hitters with the Reds' Joey Jay in the opener when New York scored the game's only run in the ninth inning on consecutive doubles by George Altman and Joe Christopher.

The Mets wrapped up their first doubleheader sweep since June 23, 1963, as Ron Hunt collected three hits, including a homer, and drove in three runs in the nightcap. Frank Lary got the victory, his first as a National Leaguer.

Ernie Broglio, looking for his first victory as a Cub, had a four-hit shutout going into the nightcap ninth when the Dodgers struck. Tommy Davis' bases loaded single tied the game and Ron Fairly scored the lead run on Frank Howard's infield out.

Hocking 1st In Golf Event At Local Club

Saturday's selective nine hole match went to W. J. Hocking Jr. who scored 28 in the event over the East Liverpool Country Club.

Bob Bowersock, Dr. R. J. Kinsey and Don E. Smith recorded 29 each to tie for second while Dr. J. J. Laneve showed 30 and Bob Patterson and E. B. Rohrer had 31 each.

Okey Ludwig's 30 won the second division.

Qualifying for the men's Club Championship ends July 19 while the Ladies will begin qualifying for the Club Championship July 15 through July 29.

A twilight mixed foursome will be held Friday night featured by a best ball of two. Dinner will follow and players are requested to sign up for this event.

Barber Nips Venturi For Biggest Win

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) —The pro golfing tourists shake the arithmetic out of their brains and move into Columbus today for the PGA Championship but they'll leave behind their latest tournament winner, Miller Barber.

The paunchy, 32-year-old Texarkansas, Ark., pro, who beat out National Open champion Ken Venturi for the $5,000 first prize in the Wykagyl Round Robin, isn't eligible for the pros' private tee party, starting Thursday.

He is two weeks shy in completing the five-year apprenticeship.

The bespectacled former assistant pro, on the tour less than two years, staged a rally to over take the front - running Venturi in the 90-hole, four-day mathematical monstrosity played over the Wykagyl Country Club course.

In this unique event, every player opposes each of the others in the field on a head-to-head, match play basis over a period of four days. Points are awarded for holes won and subtracted for holes lost.

Indiana Bowler Tops In Peterson Classic

CHICAGO (AP)—Bob Thiel, a 32-year-old public utility serviceman from Hobart, Ind., captured the top prize of $30,000 Sunday in the Petersen Bowling Classic.

The seven-month tournament ended when the last two squads of bowlers failed to overcome the score of 1,684 posted by Thiel last Feb. 8.

A record breaking field of 15,872 keglers took part in the classic and Thiel's score was assaulted by 12,800 bowlers after he had put together games of 202, 200, 239, 215, 196, 222 and 210.

Cleveland Insurance Man Wins Ohio Amateur

By HAROLD HARRISON

Those words were repeated over and over again Sunday as Carl Unis, 26-year-old Cleveland insurance man, trudged back to the clubhouse over Maketewah Country Club's soggy course. He had just become the first public links player ever to win the Ohio Amateur Golf Championship.

Unis' mother, Mrs. Michael Haddad, saw him play for the first time as he scored a 4 and 3 final match victory over Bill Anderson, a municipal judge in Wyoming, a Cincinnati suburb.

"This is the happiest moment of my life," said Mrs. Haddad.

Playing in a steady rain, Unis was one down to Anderson after the first nine holes of the final match but he was one up at the end of 18.

He never was behind after that. He dropped back to even at the 20th hole on a birdie by Anderson but regained a one-hole margin on the 21st with a birdie.

A missed five-foot putt by Unis gave Anderson the 22nd hole but Unis went right back ahead on the next hole with a birdie. He won the next with a par.

Twice after that Anderson cut his deficit to one hole but Unis came right back to win the next hole. Carl closed it out with a 20-foot putt for a birdie 4 on the 485-yard 32nd hole.

Unis, of Lebanese descent, disclosed that he never has had a paid lesson from a professional. He started out as a caddy when he was 12 years old and his mother said, "A golf course has been his second home."

"I hav ejust learned by trial and error," he said. "I learned the game by being in trouble on shots so I don't fear that."

This was Unis' third start in a state amateur. He lost here in 1959 in an early round and was beaten in the semifinals last year. His next aim is the National Amateur to be played in Cleveland later this summer.

He is the current Cleveland district medal play champion.

Beach Eyes Defense Spot With Browns

"We think Walter is a fine prospect," Collier said Sunday in discussing some of the 27 players who reported for the opening of rookie camp.

"He has run the 100 in 9.5 and weighs about 195 pounds. He has the physical equipment it takes to handle the position."

Beach, who was on the active list part of last season, starred in football and track at Central Michigan College. He is 29 and was signed as a free agent in 1963.

Collier also is optimistic about the future of Billy Truax, the Browns' second draft choice from Louisiana State. The rookie end is 6-foot-5 and weighs 242.

"We feel Truax has potential at linebacker, defensive end and as a slot end," said Collier. "We believe he has the ability to be a starter at some position."

Paul Warfield, first draft choice from Ohio State, and Tom Hutchinson of Kentucky are expected to battle it out for the offensive end post vacated by Rich Kreitling. Kreitling was traded recently to the Chicago Bears.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Pete Ward, White Sox, drove in six runs with two homers in 3-1, 11-4 doubleheader sweep against Kansas City, capping a seven - run eight inning uprising in the nightcap with his third grand slam of the season.

PITCHING — Galen Cisco, Mets, broke his six-game losing streak by besting Cincinnati's Joey Jay 1-0 in a battle of six-hitters. The Mets completed their first doubleheader sweep since June 23, 1963, by taking the second game of the doubleheader 5-1.

KUSHIRO, Hokkaido — Kenic Iida, 114, Japan, and Jet Parker, 114, Philippines, drew, 10.

Basketball School Slated For Midland Playground

A basketball school and a treasure hunt will highlight activities this week at Midland playgrounds, Hank Kuzma, director, said today.

The basketball school is scheduled each morning at the 7th St. Playground. Instruction will be given any boy interested in learning the fundamentals of shooting, dribbling and passing, Kuzma said.

Classes for boys 6-12 will be held from 10 to 11 a. m. Boys 13-15 will receive instruction from 11 a. m. to noon. Softball instruction by Ed Olkowski is scheduled at the same time and place next week.

The treasure hunt will be held tonight at 7 at all Midland playgrounds. The doll show is scheduled Monday, July 20, at 7 p.m. at the 10th St. Playground. Judges will select winners and award prizes in these categories: most unusual; funniest; prettiest; best set; tallest and smallest.

Kuzma said a number of new and unusual games were introduced during the last week. They include paddle tetherball, bagetelli, jungle gallery, dart games, magnetic power baseball and football, concentration, dominoes, roller skating, shotput and auto pedal cars.

Kuzma commented that attendance at the playlots was unusually high last week. Miss Anita Maroni's official count on Thursday at 7:30 p. m. showed 240 at the 7th St. Playground, breaking the old record of 198.

He also announced winners of last week's scavenger hunts:

Heights Playground: Nancy Kukich and Debbie Protor, first; Annette Vassallo and Vicky Hall, second, and Cheryl Rummell, Ronald Rummell and Marian Ezerpak, third.

Kuzma also cited a new policy established this year by the Midland Board of Education that calls for holding playgrounds open all day. The policy is proving "very successful," he said. He also thanked borough officials for providing painters for renovation of the playgrounds.

Cunningham's clutch hit came in the sixth inning and Len Walker, who was the winning pitcher in relief, protected the lead in the final frame. Shroades was checked with the loss.

South Side only collected three hits off three Dentist pitchers while the winners pounded out nine hits including two each by Comparetta and Moore.

Older Horses To Grab Spotlight On Saturday

By ORLO ROBERTSON

The older horses move back into the racing spotlight Saturday after a weekend which saw four 3-year-olds enhance their chances of receiving title consideration when the laurels are handed out at the end of the year.

Richest race on Saturday's calender is the $140,000 plus Hollywood Gold Cup over 1¼ miles at Hollywood Park. But of chief interest is the 1¼ miles of the $100,000-added Monmouth Handicap at Monmouth Park with Kelso and Mongo due to hook up for the first time since Mongo edged the four - time Horse of the Year in the Washington D.C. International at Laurel, Md., last Nov. 11.

Also on the program are the $40,000-added Equipoise Mile at Arlington Park; the $30,000-added New Castle Handicap, first of Delaware Park's Distaff Big Three series and the $25,000 added Tidal Handicap at Aqueduct.

The field for the Monmouth Handicap will not be known until after the weights are announced today. But Mongo is on the grounds and Kelso and Olden Times are expected to be shipped from New York.

Miss Cavandish, who came from far back to take the $56,250 Monmouth Oaks last Saturday by one length over Castle Forbes and pay $5.60, is expected to make her next start in the Delaware Oaks July 25.

Quadrangle showed he is ready to dispute the 3-year-old championship with Northern Dancer by letting Malicious set most of the pace in the $81,800 Dwyer Handicap at Aqueduct and then winning by a neck.

Dandy K, far back in the Kentucky Derby, put in a strong claim for the midwest 3-year-old championship by winning the $33,950 Laurance Armour Handicap on the turf at Arlington Park.

With Santa Anita Derby winner Hill Rise still in the East awaiting for another clash with Quadrangle and Northern Dancer in the Travers, Real Good Deal wrapped up the West Coast title. He set all the pace in taking the $116,100 Hollywood Derby at Hollywood Park as Close By's winning streak was stopped at three straight.

Retiring Postman Sends His Farewell

HAWESVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The day before he retired, Arthur Webb, a rural mail carrier, sent the following postal card to all families on his route:

"Dear Patron: It has been a wonderful experience to serve such a fine and loyal group of people. I have rejoiced with many of you when you received letters from loved ones away from home. I have sorrowed when some received letters of bad news. I have anticipated with you that long awaited letter that never came. When I made mistakes your understanding carried me on. May the years ahead bring you and your families much joy and peace."

Improved Use Urged Of Nation's Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both government and industry should move promptly to improve the use they make of the nation's 1.7 million scientists and engineers, a special presidential committee says.

There is need, too, for accurate, meaningful data on the supply of such specialized manpower, said the study made by a committee from the National Academy of Sciences. The late President John F. Kennedy had requested the study.

Crossed Pollination

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The pollination procedure got mixed up in Arlie Looney's garden this year. As a result he has potato vines with tomatoes hanging among the leaves and potatoes growing at the roots.

Florida Gets Sweeter

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The U.S. boycott of Castro Cuba's sugar is sweetening Florida's production by the handful. State Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner told Miami businessmen that 150,000 acres of Florida land are in sugar cane now compared to 60,000 two years ago.

Ohio Mishap Injures Card Authority, Wife

CINCINNATI (AP)—A three-car accident has hospitalized Oswald Jacoby, 61, noted authority on bridge. His wife, Mary, and four other persons were hurt in the crash on a Cincinnati expressway Sunday.

Jacoby suffered a broken leg and was admitted to Jewish Hospital, where Mrs. Jacoby was treated for minor cuts.

Their car was struck head-on by an auto driven by Gregory Vaughan, 21, Cincinnati, who was cited for reckless driving, police said.

Basketball School Slated For Midland Playground

A basketball school and a treasure hunt will highlight activities this week at Midland playgrounds, Hank Kuzma, director, said today.

The basketball school is scheduled each morning at the 7th St. Playground. Instruction will be given any boy interested in learning the fundamentals of shooting, dribbling and passing, Kuzma said.

Classes for boys 6-12 will be held from 10 to 11 a. m. Boys 13-15 will receive instruction from 11 a. m. to noon. Softball instruction by Ed Olkowski is scheduled at the same time and place next week.

The treasure hunt will be held tonight at 7 at all Midland playgrounds. The doll show is scheduled Monday, July 20, at 7 p.m. at the 10th St. Playground. Judges will select winners and award prizes in these categories: most unusual; funniest; prettiest; best set; tallest and smallest.

The pet shows and dress-up contests are being arranged and dates will be announced later.

Kuzma said a number of new and unusual games were introduced during the last week. They include paddle tetherball, bagetelli, jungle gallery, dart games, magnetic power baseball and football, concentration, dominoes, roller skating, shotput and auto pedal cars.

This week, the instructors are scheduled to introduce bowling, shuffleboard and marble pool.

Kuzma commented that attendance at the playlots was unusually high last week. Miss Anita Maroni's official count on Thursday at 7:30 p. m. showed 240 at the 7th St. Playground, breaking the old record of 198.

He also announced winners of last week's scavenger hunts:

Heights Playground: Nancy Kukich and Debbie Protor, first; Annette Vassallo and Vicky Hall, second, and Cheryl Rummell, Ronald Rummell and Marian Ezerpak, third.

In the scavenger hunt, the children were given a list of 25 items to be found in an hour. Prizes were awarded.

Kuzma also cited a new policy established this year by the Midland Board of Education that calls for holding playgrounds open all day. The policy is proving "very successful," he said. He also thanked borough officials for providing painters for renovation of the playgrounds.

Dentists Nip South Side In 5-4 Tilt

Bill Cunningham's double drove in the tying and winning runs to give the Dentists a 5-4 victory over South Side Saturday in the Colt League.

The game was a replay of last week's contest which went nine innings and ended in a 1-1 tie.

Cunningham's clutch hit came in the sixth inning and Len Walker, who was the winning pitcher in relief, protected the lead in the final frame. Shroades was checked with the loss.

South Side only collected three hits off three Dentist pitchers while the winners pounded out nine hits including two each by Comparetta and Moore.

HAWESVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The day before he retired, Arthur Webb, a rural mail carrier, sent the following postal card to all families on his route:

"Dear Patron: It has been a wonderful experience to serve such a fine and loyal group of people. I have rejoiced with many of you when you received letters from loved ones away from home. I have sorrowed when some received letters of bad news. I have anticipated with you that long awaited letter that never came. When I made mistakes your understanding carried me on. May the years ahead bring you and your families much joy and peace."

There is need, too, for accurate, meaningful data on the supply of such specialized manpower, said the study made by a committee from the National Academy of Sciences. The late President John F. Kennedy had requested the study.

Mr. Sahl, Meet Mr. Hays

One of the stars billed on CBS' next Meredith Willson special (July 28) is former Congressman Brooks Hays, who now is special assistant to President Johnson. In the show's script outline it says he will do 4 minutes of philosophy and humor.

Hal Humphrey

If there ever was a summer when a Democrat (which Hays happens to be) could afford to be philosophical and humorous, this is it. The Hays humor on Meredith's TV show will include a couple of jokes aimed at President Johnson.

He doesn't think the President will mind or that the Republicans will ask for equal time.

"I HAD HINTED to Meredith," says the dry-witted Hays, "that I also would like to sing a solo, but I guess he recognized that the good Lord had given him the musical ability and endowed the congressman with handsomeness."

Hays insists he doesn't want to be remembered as a funny man ("my wife recognizes me as a statesman"), but his Arkansas-flavored stories accumulated over 36 years of political career have given Hays a reputation as a kind of nonperforming Will Rogers.

"Will Rogers was my ideal," says Hays in a drawl not unlike the late cowboy humorist. "His humor never carried too sharp a barb, and I want mine to be kind. Humor can create wounds, if one isn't careful."

ACCORDING TO Abel Green and Joe Laurie Jr., writing in their book, "Show Biz," Will Rogers once did an imitation of President Calvin Coolidge (circa 1927) on NBC radio which caused the network to take a longer look at all scripts before air time.

If Will's imitation carried no barb, then Mr. Coolidge and many Republicans of that day must be credited with extremely thin skins, because there was quite a "tempest," report Green and Laurie.

Hays made his TV debut on Jack Paar's show a year ago and has appeared since with Johnny Carson. If anyone was offended by anything he said during either session, there's no record of it.

ON HIS UPCOMING DATE with Meredith Wilson, Hays was considering whether or not he should use the line, "I got tired of turning the lights off," after being asked why he now divides his time between the White House and a faculty job at Rutgers University.

"I don't think the President will resent that, do you? It simply recalls to people's minds that he is economy-minded, don't you think?" Hays asked.

He did decide to use it in the show, and one wonders if Will Rogers would have pondered the same decision with such deliberate care.

About the only time this mild-mannered ex-congressman from Arkansas (eight terms, 1943-1958) lets his humor take on a barbed edge is when he dwells on those he terms "fanatics" on the political scene today.

"THEY REMIND ME," says Hays, "of the old fellow making his testimony after discovering the 'true religion.' He shouts to the congregation, 'Before I got the true religion, I loved everybody, but now I know I got it really, because I hate everybody who ain't got it.'"

Hays believes political humor currently is enjoying a much-needed renaissance ("it's a great antidote for the malignancy of hate").

Apparently, however, Presidential Assistant Hays doesn't keep too close tabs on the newer exponents of political humor. The name Mort Sahl meant nothing to him, a fact which probably would have little or no effect on Sahl, who very likely has not heard of Brooks Hays.

It does seem a shame, though, that the advocates of political humor are so unorganized.

The Case Of The Stubborn Pounds

Ida Jean Kain

Initial weight loss, however, is highly unpredictable. You might lose 5 to 7 pounds the first week, or the scales may register no loss at all.

One gentleman complained bitterly that after dieting strictly for a full week, he found the pointer up two pounds. Here is the explanation: Water retention had postponed the registration of lost pounds. In the process of reducing there is often a temporary shift in water balance.

FAT IS stored in the body in individual cells, each one containing a droplet of fat. As stored fat is burned for energy, the droplets get smaller. But since water is a by-product of the oxidation of fat, some water may replace the used fat in the cells. The water can be retained until the fat globule is almost wholly gone. During this interim no loss is registered.

Failure to scale down at the start of a diet is not due to any resistance on the part of the fat. To get the picture of what happens, drop a pat of fat into a glass of water. Fat floats...it's lighter. Since stored water weighs more than the fat it has displaced, the scales can register a gain.

Prolonged water storage can continue for 10 to 16 days, perhaps longer. One homemaker, dieting with her husband, lost no weight for 21 days. During this period her husband had lost 9 pounds. Discouraged, she decided to stop dieting. But that night was a restless one; she got up many times. The next morning she stepped on the scales and found the pointer down 9 pounds! Water is released through the kidneys, and when stored water is released simultaneously in millions of cells, the pointer plunges.

WATER retention is not influenced by the amount of water consumed. It is well to drink plenty of water between meals, for it helps prevent fatigue and counteracts the tendency to constipation. When the quantity of food is lessened, constipation is sometimes a problem, particularly at the start of a diet. Talk with your doctor about it. Ask his advice about using some bulk - supplying substance.

If you fail to lose weight on schedule, don't be discouraged. Stay with the diet. You'll lose . . .and catch up with the fast starters. As a rule, the more overweight you are, the more you are apt to lose early in the diet. With considerable excess, there is likely to be more surplus water stored. If you lose this water rapidly, which often happens on a high - protein diet, initial weight loss may be dramatic.

Pollution Probe Eyed For Ashtabula Beach

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — Ashtabula City Manager David P. DeLuc says local and state pollution experts have agreed to investigate complaints of black soot washing onto a Lake Erie beach here.

DeLuc said residents of the Clifton Beach allotment have complained that fly ash is so thick it makes their beach and swimming area unusable much of the time. The fly ash reportedly washes from fill used in building a dock in the area and extending it into the lake.

Public Insensitivity Blamed On TV

Imagine yourself arriving home from work alone at 3:20 a.m. You parked your car next to the railroad station and started for your apartment a hundred feet away. Seeing a man at the far end of the parking lot, you hurried toward a police call box. You got only as far as the street light when the man stabbed you. You screamed and shouted, "Oh, my God! He stabbed me! Please help me! Please Help me!"

Dr. Garry Myers

Lights went on and windows were opened (at least 37 of them as later determined by the police).

—:—

ONE MAN shouted, "Let her alone!" and the assailant walked away. Several minutes later he came back and stabbed you again. You screamed again, "I'm dying! I'm dying!"

The attacker drove off in a car. You crawled around to the back of the apartment. He came back and stabbed you fatally.

Lo and behond, two weeks later, there was another shocking incident.

A mentally deranged youth, 19, stood on a 12-story hotel ledge for two hours threatening to jump while a watching crowd shouted, "Jump! Jump! Jump!"

ONE TEENAGER shouted, "Aw, come on! You're chicken!"

The whole crowd set up a chant, "Jump! Jump! Jump!"

Finally, a seven - year - old nephew persuaded the boy to come down and he was taken away for medical treatment.

More recently you could have read of similar instances of insensitivity to suffering in other persons, and you will read still more, no doubt.

Has this unspeakable phenomenon any relation to violence eagerly watched continually on TV by children and adults?

I do believe it has. Don't you? We start with the tot two or three to harden his heart to the sufferings he may see in other persons.

Methodists Pick Bishop For New Ohio East Area

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Wauwatosa, Wis., minister has been elected a bishop and assigned as the first head of the newly formed Ohio - East Methodist Area, with headquarters in Canton.

He is Bishop Francis E. Kearns, pastor of Wauwatosa Methodist Church. The election came Saturday at the North Central Jurisdictional Conference. Bishop Kearns, in the same pastorate the past 20 years, will transfer to Canton sometime next month.

Delegates named him and the Rev. Dr. Lance Webb, pastor of North Broadway Methodist Church in Columbus, as bishops on the 23rd ballot. They and two other newly elected bishops were consecrated at the end of the five-day meeting Sunday.

The others are Bishop Dwight E. Loder, Evanston, Ill., named to head the Michigan area, and Bishop Thomas M. Pryor, Kalamazoo, Mich., who takes over the Chicago area. Bishop Webb will serve Illinois.

Bishop F. Gerald Ensley has been reassigned from Iowa to take over the new Ohio-West Area.

Bishop Hazen G. Werner, former Ohio bishop, has been assigned to Hong Kong. He called in a sermon at the consecration services for the church to restore integrity to society in place of what he called the prevailing mood of expediency.

Bishop Werner was episcopal leader both for the Ohio and North-East Ohio annual conferences, but the jurisdictional conference decided to split Ohio into two episcopal areas.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

The Case Of The Stubborn Pounds

When you step on the scales this second Monday, if the pointer shows a satisfying 2 to 3 pound loss, you'll feel jubilant. Initial weight loss, however, is highly unpredictable. You might lose 5 to 7 pounds the first week, or the scales may register no loss at all.

Ida Jean Kain

One gentleman complained bitterly that after dieting strictly for a full week, he found the pointer up two pounds. Here is the explanation: Water retention had postponed the registration of lost pounds. In the process of reducing there is often a temporary shift in water balance.

—:—

FAT IS stored in the body in individual cells, each one containing a droplet of fat. As stored fat is burned for energy, the droplets get smaller. But since water is a by-product of the oxidation of fat, some water may replace the used fat in the cells. The water can be retained until the fat globule is almost wholly gone. During this interim no loss is registered.

Failure to scale down at the start of a diet is not due to any resistance on the part of the fat. To get the picture of what happens, drop a pat of fat into a glass of water. Fat floats...it's lighter. Since stored water weighs more than the fat it has displaced, the scales can register a gain.

Prolonged water storage can continue for 10 to 16 days, perhaps longer. One homemaker, dieting with her husband, lost no weight for 21 days. During this period her husband had lost 9 pounds. Discouraged, she decided to stop dieting. But that night was a restless one; she got up many times. The next morning she stepped on the scales and found the pointer down 9 pounds! Water is released through the kidneys, and when stored water is released simultaneously in millions of cells, the pointer plunges.

WATER retention is not influenced by the amount of water consumed. It is well to drink plenty of water between meals, for it helps prevent fatigue and counteracts the tendency to constipation. When the quantity of food is lessened, constipation is sometimes a problem, particularly at the start of a diet. Talk with your doctor about it. Ask his advice about using some bulk - supplying substance.

If you fail to lose weight on schedule, don't be discouraged. Stay with the diet. You'll lose . . .and catch up with the fast starters. As a rule, the more overweight you are, the more you are apt to lose early in the diet. With considerable excess, there is likely to be more surplus water stored. If you lose this water rapidly, which often happens on a high - protein diet, initial weight loss may be dramatic.

Pollution Probe Eyed For Ashtabula Beach

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — Ashtabula City Manager David P. DeLuc says local and state pollution experts have agreed to investigate complaints of black soot washing onto a Lake Erie beach here.

DeLuc said residents of the Clifton Beach allotment have complained that fly ash is so thick it makes their beach and swimming area unusable much of the time. The fly ash reportedly washes from fill used in building a dock in the area and extending it into the lake.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Public Insensitivity Blamed On TV

Imagine yourself arriving home from work alone at 3:20 a.m. You parked your car next to the railroad station and started for your apartment a hundred feet away. Seeing a man at the far end of the parking lot, you hurried toward a police call box. You got only as far as the street light when the man stabbed you. You screamed and shouted, "Oh, my God! He stabbed me! Please help me! Please Help me!"

Dr. Garry Myers

Lights went on and windows were opened (at least 37 of them as later determined by the police).

—:—

ONE MAN shouted, "Let her alone!" and the assailant walked away. Several minutes later he came back and stabbed you again. You screamed again, "I'm dying! I'm dying!"

The attacker drove off in a car. You crawled around to the back of the apartment. He came back and stabbed you fatally.

During all this time not one of all the onlookers and listeners lifted a finger to help you, not even to telphone the police.

Lo and behond, two weeks later, there was another shocking incident.

A mentally deranged youth, 19, stood on a 12-story hotel ledge for two hours threatening to jump while a watching crowd shouted, "Jump! Jump! Jump!"

ONE TEENAGER shouted, "Aw, come on! You're chicken!"

The whole crowd set up a chant, "Jump! Jump! Jump!"

Finally, a seven - year - old nephew persuaded the boy to come down and he was taken away for medical treatment.

More recently you could have read of similar instances of insensitivity to suffering in other persons, and you will read still more, no doubt.

Has this unspeakable phenomenon any relation to violence eagerly watched continually on TV by children and adults?

I do believe it has. Don't you? We start with the tot two or three to harden his heart to the sufferings he may see in other persons.

Methodists Pick Bishop For New Ohio East Area

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Wauwatosa, Wis., minister has been elected a bishop and assigned as the first head of the newly formed Ohio - East Methodist Area, with headquarters in Canton.

He is Bishop Francis E. Kearns, pastor of Wauwatosa Methodist Church. The election came Saturday at the North Central Jurisdictional Conference. Bishop Kearns, in the same pastorate the past 20 years, will transfer to Canton sometime next month.

Delegates named him and the Rev. Dr. Lance Webb, pastor of North Broadway Methodist Church in Columbus, as bishops on the 23rd ballot. They and two other newly elected bishops were consecrated at the end of the five-day meeting Sunday.

The others are Bishop Dwight E. Loder, Evanston, Ill., named to head the Michigan area, and Bishop Thomas M. Pryor, Kalamazoo, Mich., who takes over the Chicago area. Bishop Webb will serve Illinois.

Bishop F. Gerald Ensley has been reassigned from Iowa to take over the new Ohio-West Area.

Bishop Hazen G. Werner, former Ohio bishop, has been assigned to Hong Kong. He called in a sermon at the consecration services for the church to restore integrity to society in place of what he called the prevailing mood of expediency.

Bishop Werner was episcopal leader both for the Ohio and North-East Ohio annual conferences, but the jurisdictional conference decided to split Ohio into two episcopal areas.

Study Warns Of TV Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Television debates between presidential candidates are generally desirable, a study commission says, but "in some . . . situations it may be contrary to our national interest for the president to engage in debates."

The conclusions were reached by a nine-member commission of the American Political Science Association, headed by Carl J. Friedrich, a professor of government at the Harvard Graduate School of Public Administration.

"The presidential candidate who also is president," the commission said, "must consider fully the duties and responsibilities of his office before engaging in campaign debates. Onlp he can decide whether he will debate his opponents during the campaign. The decision is properly his."

A highlight of the 1960 campaign was the series of debates between John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon. Before his assassination, Kennedy said that even as president he would be willing to debate his opponent in 1964.

The commission cited the Cuban invasion and the missile crisis as recent examples of situations in which presidential debates might hurt the national interest.

The study was financed by a grant from the National Broadcasting Co., but the association said the study commission "had complete independence."

Study Warns Of TV Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Television debates between presidential candidates are generally desirable, a study commission says, but "in some . . . situations it may be contrary to our national interest for the president to engage in debates."

The conclusions were reached by a nine-member commission of the American Political Science Association, headed by Carl J. Friedrich, a professor of government at the Harvard Graduate School of Public Administration.

"The presidential candidate who also is president," the commission said, "must consider fully the duties and responsibilities of his office before engaging in campaign debates. Onlp he can decide whether he will debate his opponents during the campaign. The decision is properly his."

A highlight of the 1960 campaign was the series of debates between John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon. Before his assassination, Kennedy said that even as president he would be willing to debate his opponent in 1964.

President Johnson has not announced whether he would be willing to debate a campaign opponent, but some sources say he plans no such encounter.

The commission cited the Cuban invasion and the missile crisis as recent examples of situations in which presidential debates might hurt the national interest.

The study was financed by a grant from the National Broadcasting Co., but the association said the study commission "had complete independence."

OFF THE RECORD

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What is the best way to clean glazed tile?

A. Don't use harsh, abrasive cleansing powders on glazed tile or brick, since you could damage the finish beyond hope of repair. Instead use soap and water and, if necessary, a non-abrasive cleaning powder.

Q. How can I prevent white enamel from turning yellow later?

A. By adding a teaspoon of black enamel to each quart of white enamel paint used.

Q. How can I make my own earrings to match a particular dress?

A. Buy two buttons more than you need for that dress, then with colorless fingernail polish fasten these buttons to the base of an old pair of earrings.

Q. How can I make use of a rubber hot water bottle that has a tiny leak in it?

A. Instead of filling it with hot water, fill it with hot salt. Salt, it's said, will keep hot longer than water.

Q. What can I do for my hands when they feel puckered up after long immersion in soapsuds?

A. Rubbing them with vinegar or lemon juice will give relief and make them soft and white.

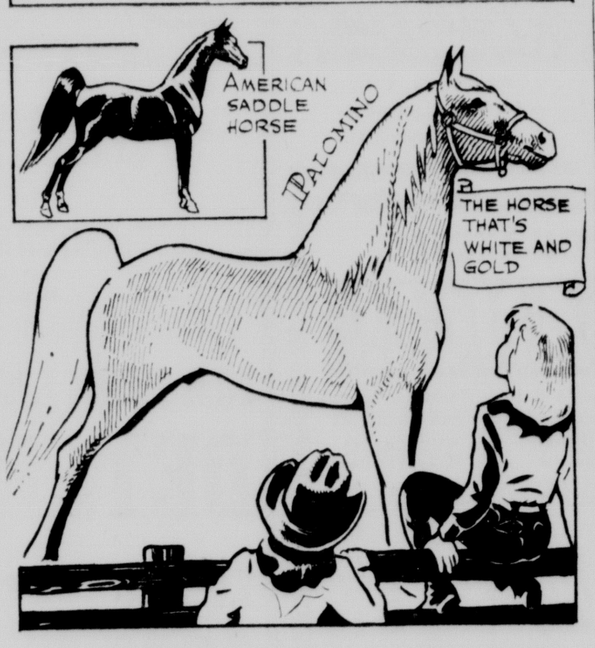

Q. How can I repair small holes in linoleum?

A. By carefully filling these holes with a mixture of finely chopped cork and liqiud glue, which is permitted to dry thoroughly and then given a coat of clean varnish.

Q. What can I do for my hands when they feel puckered up after long immersion in soapsuds?

A. Rubbing them with vinegar or lemon juice will give relief and make them soft and white.

Junior Editors Quiz on Horses

QUESTION: Is the Palomino horse a separate breed?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Horses are generally grouped into three kinds, draft or heavy horses, light horses and the smaller ponies. Light horses are the ones usually used for riding and driving. These have been developed by breeding — mating animals of similar type — so that their foals will be like their parents. These breeds include the Arabian, Thoroughbred (racing horse) Standardbred, American Saddle Horse, Morgan, Tennessee Walking Horse and American Quarter Horse. Horses, when born, may have different colors, such as black, seal brown, bay, etc. Palomino is simply one of these colors; it means a golden body color with blond or silver mane and tail. Other color types are the Albino (pure white with pink skin), pinto, (patches of color), and Appaloosa(a spotted horse). Palominos are so popular that they are often called by his name rather than the breed of horse they represent. Check in our picture with how the shape of the Palomino resembles the American Saddle Horse, which is this Palomino's breed. Two Palominos, mated, might produce a foal of another color, which is why they are not a separate breed. Except for Thoroughbreds, Palomino coloring occurs in almost all breeds.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Put a gold color over the body of the Palomino to get a better idea of the color of this beautiful horse. Watch for Palominos on horse farms.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: In your column recently a wife wrote that she was distrubed because her husband had come home from a stag party where two girls did strip acts. You told the wife she should not be thrown off balance by a "cheap" little bimbo whose major talent is parade at stags in the altogether."

For the first time in my life I feel I should defend my profession. I have been an exotic dancer (I prefer this to "stripper") for 12 years. I am no cheap little bimbo but a hard-working woman who paid taxes on $40,000 last year.

When I finished my schooling in the East at age 16, I went to work in the office of a major TV network. In the 10 months I worked there I received more indecent proposals and pinches on my posterior than in the 12 years I have been doing my act.

There can be artistry and taste in exotic dancing. I'm told I have a regal bearing which makes men respect me. The average male would think twice before he tried to pinch a woman who buys her own diamonds and minks — and travels with a 200-pound drummer.

Since you claim to be fair, Ann, I hope you will print my letter and give the customers an eyeful. — T.N.T.

Dear Dynamite: I try always to be fair and here is your letter. As for "giving the customers an eyeful" — that's your line, thank you.

Chummy Crumb

Dear Ann: Have you noticed that service employes are becoming chummier and chummier? I have, and I don't like it.

My butcher always greets me with "Hello, Honey," or "What will you have today, Dear?" I find this embarrassing, particularly when someone I know is standing near.

Am I wrong to feel as I do? Should I say something to the man? Thank you. — OLD FASHIONED.

Dear Old-Fashioned: If the butcher asked for a date or offered to deliver the pork chops in person you'd have a legitimate beef — no pun intended.

A "Hello, Honey" should not offend you. If it's more than you can stand, however, ask him to call you "Mrs. Glockenspheil" in the future. You might also prepare yourself for some stringy roasts and tough T-Bones.

Permissive Parents

Dear Ann: Is it wrong to discipline the children of guests?

I have two friends who bring their youngsters over regularly. One little 2½-year-old boy is into everything. He is fast as lightning and unless someone keeps an eye on him every minute he can take a whole house apart.

The boy's mother is one of these "relaxed" types who never sees anything. I have to take matches out of the child's mouth, ash trays out of his hands and move the candy dish on the mantel or he would eat every piece. He has torn up my magazines and broken my records. His mother is always "sorry" but that's as far as it goes. She says, "I hate to be hard on Jerry because it might destroy his natural curiosity. Children need to investigate."

How about this? — ROBINETTE.

Dear Robin: You have not been "disciplining" the boy, you've attemped to protect your property, and the boy against his lack of training.

The child who is permitted everything and anything at home will try for anything and everything when he's out. His mother is failing him — badly.

A youngster who does not learn what NO means is bound to find the world a frustrating and unhappy place to live in and will forever be at odds with those around him. This is how misfits are made.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed stamped, envelope.

Sen. Young Believes Goldwater 'Strongest'

By RICHARD P. Powers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, says Sen. Barry Goldwater would be the strongest Republican candidate for the presidency.

Young said the Arizona senator, if nominated, would be the toughest candidate against President Johnson in the November election and would make Young's fight for re-election to a second term in the senate more difficult.

Young commented before returning to Ohio where he will spend a week campaigning against Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, who is trying to capture the seat once held by his father, the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

WINNETKA, Ill. (AP) — Walter F. Straub, 67, died Sunday in his Winnetka, Ill., home. He was president and manager of W. F. Straub & Co., a director of Wieboldt Stores, Inc., and president of the Wieboldt Foundation.

A 20-year-old Wellsville man was cited by police after his auto skidded out of control Saturday morning and struck the steps at a home on W. 8th St.

The 1956 two-door sedan operated by Danny Nicholas Saracco, 1209 Clover St., crashed into steps and a retaining wall at the home of Lilli Franklin, 957 W. 8th St., also damaging shrubbery on the property, officers said.

The crash was timed at 7:02 on the four - lane stretch of W. 8th St. near Edwards Ave., police said.

Saracco told the officer his car was in the left lane when he felt the wheels cross the center divider strip. He said he tapped the brake and turned the wheel to move the auto back into the proper lane, but the car began sliding from left to right, going over the curb and striking the steps.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: In your column recently a wife wrote that she was distrubed because her husband had come home from a stag party where two girls did strip acts. You told the wife she should not be thrown off balance by a "cheap" little bimbo whose major talent is parade at stags in the altogether."

For the first time in my life I feel I should defend my profession. I have been an exotic dancer (I prefer this to "stripper") for 12 years. I am no cheap little bimbo but a hard-working woman who paid taxes on $40,000 last year.

When I finished my schooling in the East at age 16, I went to work in the office of a major TV network. In the 10 months I worked there I received more indecent proposals and pinches on my posterior than in the 12 years I have been doing my act.

There can be artistry and taste in exotic dancing. I'm told I have a regal bearing which makes men respect me. The average male would think twice before he tried to pinch a woman who buys her own diamonds and minks — and travels with a 200-pound drummer.

Since you claim to be fair, Ann, I hope you will print my letter and give the customers an eyeful. — T.N.T.

Dear Dynamite: I try always to be fair and here is your letter. As for "giving the customers an eyeful" — that's your line, thank you.

Chummy Crumb

Dear Ann: Have you noticed that service employes are becoming chummier and chummier? I have, and I don't like it.
